1. June School University of New Haven

Attention June School attendees! The University of New Haven will be in the house … Wednesday June 6th CFA Lobby

If you have been putting off starting your Bachelor's Degree or FINISHING your degree, now is the time to see where you stand!

A representative from the Admissions office as well as a faculty member will be available to evaluate your past education to see what you have left to finish your degree.
Please come with transcripts of prior academic work as well as your fire certifications and we will map out a plan of next steps for you!

Don't put it off! Do it now!!

As a fire science major at the University of New Haven, you will be joining one of the largest, most comprehensive fire science programs in the country. You will learn the science of what gives a fire life, what keeps it burning, and the techniques and tactics to put it out. You will learn to battle blazes, lead teams, and prevent fires from starting in the first place. And, you'll focus your career path by choosing one of two concentrations:

- Fire Administration: Learn fire department best practices and department command structure as you develop the skills needed to become a leader.

- Fire/Arson Investigation: Prepare for a career in fire investigation, arson/fraud detection, and code enforcement as you earn a minor in criminal justice.
