

Get Tested for COVID-19

Visit ct.gov/coronavirus for more information about
COVID-19 in Connecticut

More Information about Testing

Testing for COVID-19

Getting tested for COVID-19, and getting next steps if you test positive can save lives. It can protect your health and the health of your family, friends, neighbors, and many others.

Guidance from health care experts suggest you get tested regularly, even without symptoms, if you're living in some of our most populated cities and towns, especially if you live in close proximity to others.

Visit ct.gov/prioritytesting to find a free testing site near you.

COVID-19 Contact Tracing

If you test positive, you can expect a call from a contact tracer, and to have a detailed conversation with them about who you have been in contact with. Conversations with contact tracers can save lives, and stop the spread of COVID-19. Calls from a contact tracer will show up on your phone as CTCOVIDTRACE, or may be from your local health department. You should know that your personal health information will be protected in this process.

Contact tracers will not ask you to call a "1-900" or "900" number, will not contact you via social media, and will not ask you for financial information.

For support

If you need support finding resources for you and your family during the COVID-19 pandemic, dial 2-1-1, or visit 211ct.org.

Visit ct.gov/coronavirus for more information about
COVID-19 in Connecticut