Personal Interview

The adult adoptee or birth parent must have a personal interview with an OChYP worker. If the person lives out of state, an adoption agency or licensed counselor in the area where they live may conduct the interview. The OChYP worker will send a letter to the agency identifying the subject matter to be covered during the interview.

Interview with Adult Adoptee

- the adoptee’s childhood;
- the adoptee’s current life situation;
- the adoptee’s motivation for searching now;
- the adoptee’s expectations about their birth family;
- what kind of contact would the adoptee initially prefer (i.e., letter, telephone call or personal contact);
- what does the adoptee expect from or hope for their birth family (i.e., just information or on-going contact); and
- is the adoptee prepared.

- the birth parents:
  - may be deceased;

- if appropriate, may need help to understand the adoptive parents' feelings about the search.

Interview with Birth Parent

Before an attempt is made to contact the adoptee, it is important to ascertain a sense of the stability and maturity of the parent.

Some of the areas and issues to be addressed in the interview with the birth parent are as follows:

- motivation;
- the sense of urgency;
- the appropriateness of the search;

- support of the search.

Request for Probate Court Information

If the person being searched cannot be located within the mandatory ten (10) hours allotted for the search, the searcher can petition Probate Court for release of identifying information.

Meeting Between Participants

The meeting may take place in the DCF office; or, the participants may, after verbal or written correspondence, decide to arrange the meeting themselves without a third party being involved.
