

Bat Bingo

Beetle	Mosquito	Mammal	Leaf hopper	Stink bug
Eave on a roof	Bumble bee	Banana	Grasshopper	Cricket
Large moth	Loose bark on a tree	FREE SPACE	Pond	Mayfly
Milk	Stream	Person	Bat house	Small moth
Something the color of a bat	Snag tree	Something upside down	Hair	Lake

Find what you can in your neighborhood!

Fun Bat Bingo Facts

The bats in Connecticut are insectivorous or insect eating. Connecticut bats can eat up to half their body weight in insects each night.

Some bats will roost under the loose bark of trees or hang from the eaves of a roof.

Many bats get water from their food but often drink from a lake, pond, or stream.

Bats, like people, are mammals. They have hair and the young first have mother's milk.

Wild bananas are pollinated by bats.

The world's smallest bat is the bumblebee bat and is about the size of your thumb.