

To All Connecticut Residents:

Operating a motor vehicle is a complicated task requiring skill, ability and a degree of tolerance for our fellow driver. While our skills and tolerance may increase with 'time on the road', our abilities may be reduced by trauma, disease or illness.

A driver licensing system which is based on the assumption that we do not change physically is not consistent with common sense, nor does it reflect reality. The change may have been so subtle that the driver did not even notice it, or it may have been the result of an accident with very clear consequences.

The Department of Motor Vehicles, with the help of our Medical Advisory Board (a group of medical doctors who volunteer their time), has developed a Limited License program. This licensing program is for the person whose abilities, for whatever reason, have changed since his or her initial licensing. It also allows DMV to issue new licenses under this program to drivers who previously would not have qualified for a license.

The Limited License program does not concern itself with the reason for change; instead, it focuses on the professional medical advice given to the driver. If a driver is told by his or her physician to drive only during daylight hours because of a medical condition, the Limited License can be fashioned to state just that limitation.

The goal of the license program is to support self-respect and dignity by ensuring the greatest possible mobility for the driver without jeopardizing safety.

The type of license issued is based on the advice of the driver's medical professional, who provides the DMV with diagnostic information. DMV personnel review the medical reports and may ask the driver to be evaluated by specially trained DMV staff. The license is then issued to the driver, at no additional charge if the driver has a current license. If a license is issued, it becomes the license that the driver carries and uses. It indicates with a code that it is a license.

The advantage of the license is the assurance that the person is driving in a manner consistent with the best possible medical advice.

The license program assists many drivers to retain their driving privileges without hardship, plus maintain their self-respect, dignity, and mobility.

Additional information regarding the license program appears on the reverse of this pamphlet.
