In December 2011, Connecticut Agriculture Commissioner Steven K. Reviczky announced designation of $2 million of Community Investment Act funds for a pilot of the Community Farms Preservation Program (CFPP).

Established per Sec. 22-26nn of the Connecticut General Statutes, the CFPP is for farms that do not meet the criteria of the long-standing Farmland Preservation Program for reasons of size, soil quality, or location, but may contribute to local economic activity through agricultural production. Such farms typically have fewer than 30 acres of crop land, are active farms in food or fiber production, contain prime farmland soils and/or additional farmland of statewide importance, and have a demonstrated level of community support.

The Connecticut Department of Agriculture (DoAg) received tremendous response from towns throughout Connecticut seeking to become prequalified for the pilot by the May 31, 2012, deadline. In fact, 21 towns in seven counties successfully completed the prequalification requirements, culminating in a cooperative agreement with DoAg to jointly purchase development rights (PDR) on qualified farms.

Another 13 towns have requested identification of additional farmland of local importance from the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS). Thus, 20 percent of the towns in Connecticut are prepared, or are in the process of preparing, for the ability to leverage state and/or federal funding for the preservation of important farmland soils on qualified working farms.

Of the towns qualified to participate in the pilot of CFPP, 10 farm applications in six counties statewide were submitted by the July 31, 2012, deadline and are being considered for funding. Nearly 700 acres are included in the pool of applications, which include a variety of active farm types such as dairy support crops, pasture for beef cattle and sheep, goat cheese making facilities, organic vegetables with a community supported agriculture (CSA) component, maple syrup, and Christmas trees.

As the funding request for the 10 farms exceeds the $2 million designated for the pilot, DoAg sought assistance from the NRCS to access federal funding through the Farm & Ranch Lands Protection Program (FRPP). A great effort was made by both DoAg and NRCS to enter a cooperative agreement for FRPP 2012 funding that would help enable DoAg to preserve as many qualified farms as funding will allow.

At this point, DoAg has visited all farms qualified for the pilot and prepared preliminary scores based on criteria set in consultation with the Farmland Preservation Advisory Board. Configuration maps for each farm will be prepared and will outline the general restrictions and area to be included in the PDR.

Once confirmed with the farmer, Commissioner Reviczky and the designated town official will authorize appraisal of the farm. Once appraisals are in and reviewed, the town and DoAg will agree to an offer for the PDR. After the offer has been accepted by the farmer, DoAg will seek State Properties Review Board approval for the PDR, and obtain a survey and title work.

DoAg’s intent is to record deeds on land records to preserve the farms through PDR within 18 months of a farmer signing the agreements to sell the development rights. Applications will be processed in the order in which they are ranked based on CFPP criteria.

DoAg is off to a successful start with the CFPP and encourages towns not currently eligible to contact DoAg. If a town has completed eligibility requirements, it is in a position to act, with DoAg’s help, to protect important farmland resources—right at the time the farmer is ready, and when funding beyond the pilot becomes available.

Participation in the program is voluntary. Interested farmers and towns are encouraged to discuss CFPP eligibility with Program Director Joseph Dippel or Property Agent Katherine Winslow by phone at 860-713-2589 or in writing to the Connecticut Department of Agriculture, Farmland Preservation Program, 165 Capitol Avenue, G8A, Hartford, CT 06106.

SURE SIGN-UP PERIOD OPENS OCT 22

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) sign-up period for the 2011 crop year Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments (SURE) program will open October 22, 2012. Under the 2008 Farm Bill, SURE authorizes assistance to farmers and ranchers who suffered crop losses caused by natural disasters occurring through September 30, 2011.

To be eligible for SURE, a farm or ranch must have:
1. At least a 10-percent production loss on a crop of economic significance;
2. A policy or plan of insurance under the Federal Crop Insurance Act or the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) for all economically significant crops;
3. Been physically located in a county that was declared a primary disaster county or contiguous county by the Secretary of Agriculture under a Secretarial Disaster Designation.

Without a Secretarial Disaster Designation, individual producers may be eligible if the actual production on the farm is less than 50 percent of the normal production on the farm due to a natural disaster.

Producers considered socially disadvantaged, a beginning farmer or rancher, or a limited resource farmer may be eligible for SURE without a policy or plan of insurance or NAP coverage.

Farmers and ranchers interested in signing up must do so before the June 7, 2013 deadline.

For more information on the 2011 SURE program, visit any FSA county office or www.fsa.usda.gov/sure.
NEW USDA TOOLS FOR ORGANIC PRODUCERS

The USDA has developed a guide to organic and organic-related programs, and is implementing a department-wide training program to improve service to current and prospective organic customers. USDA has also developed a toolkit that helps farmers and businesses answer the question, "is organic an option for me?"

In response to requests from the organic community, USDA developed these materials to help connect current and prospective organic operations with appropriate USDA resources. These efforts are designed to make USDA staff better equipped to help current and prospective organic customers:

- Obtain technical and financial assistance
- Insure crops and livestock
- Access and fund research
- Secure loans
- Develop conservation practices
- Find current organic price information
- Access local, regional, and international markets

For more information about USDA’s National Organic Program, go to http://www.ams.usda.gov/AMSv1.0/organicinfo.

GOVERNOR’S COUNCIL LISTENING SESSIONS

The Governor’s Council for Agricultural Development is developing the first-ever strategic plan for Connecticut agriculture. As part of the information-gathering phase of that effort, the council is conducting four listening sessions in late September and early October to obtain input from agricultural stakeholders in Connecticut.

The first three listening sessions occurred September 19 in Norwich, September 20 in Windsor, and September 27 in New Haven. CT-N coverage of the Norwich session can be viewed at http://ct-n.com/ondemand.asp?ID=8186.

The fourth and final session will be held from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, October 4, 2012, at the Litchfield County Extension Office in Torrington. All are welcome and no RSVP is required.

Those who would like to provide input but cannot attend a listening session can still submit feedback via an online survey at http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/GCAD_Stakeholder_Input_Aug_Sep_2012. The deadline to respond to the survey has been extended to October 7, 2012.

CT AG FAIR SEASON UNDERWAY

Connecticut’s agricultural fair season is underway, with a wide assortment of local, 4-H, district, and major fairs around the state through mid-October. Fairs coming up this week include:

- Berlin Fair, October 5, 6 & 7, 2012
- Harwinton Fair, October 6 & 7, 2012

More information about Connecticut’s agricultural fairs is available at www.ctfairs.org.
