Medical and Related Information

Understand the Current Diagnostic Criteria for Autism Spectrum Disorder

The DSM-5 is now the standard reference that healthcare providers use to diagnose mental and behavioral conditions. Understand the current diagnostic criteria for ASD by visiting Autism Speaks website at <https://www.autismspeaks.org/dsm-5-criteria>

Learn about Evidenced-based Practices and Therapies

The EBP is an intervention and instructional practices or programs having scientific evidence that shows that they are effective. To know more please visit the Organization For Autism Research website at <https://researchautism.org/use-of-evidence-based-practices/>.

Visit the The National Professional Development Center on Autism Spectrum Disorder website at <https://autismpdc.fpg.unc.edu/evidence-based-practices> to select an Evidence Based Practice module which provides an overview and general description, step-by-step instruction of implementation, an implementation checklist, and the evidence-base which includes the list of references that demonstrate the practice meets the NPDC's criteria.

Getting Evaluated for Autism as an Adult

Autism Speaks provides an article for individuals looking for an autism diagnoses as an adult. Finding someone qualified to evaluate an adult with ASD are few. Autism Speaks provides information for adults who believe they are on the spectrum <https://www.autismspeaks.org/expert-opinion/getting-evaluated-autism-adult-where-go-who-see>. You can download an Autism guide for adults at <https://www.autismspeaks.org/tool-kit/it-autism-and-if-so-what-next-guide-adults>

Autism Speaks has made available a self-assessment questionnaire for adults who believe they may have autism. This test itself cannot diagnose autism since the questionnaire only explores repetitive and restrictive behaviors which are just one of many symptoms of autism. Someone who learns they may have repetitive and/or restrictive behaviors may be prompted to get help <https://www.autismspeaks.org/science-news/researchers-develop-first-autism-symptom-self-assessment-adults>

Since there are few clinicians who specialize in evaluating and treating adults with autism, try contacting:

- Developmental pediatrician
- Child psychiatrist
- Pediatric Neurologist
- Neuropsychologist

Explore Behavioral Supports if Necessary

People with Autism may display behaviors that are challenging to understand or manage. Autism Speaks offers The Challenging Behaviors Tool Kit which provides strategies and resources to address challenging behaviors and help support you during difficult times. To download a FREE toolkit, visit <https://www.autismspeaks.org/tool-kit/challenging-behaviors-tool-kit>

For additional support consider:

Clinical Behavioral Supports- Services that assist natural support persons and/or paid support staff in carrying out individual support plans, which are not covered by the Medicaid State Plan, necessary to improve the individual's independence and inclusion in their community. The services include descriptive behavioral assessments including functional analysis, interpretations of the results, development of a behavioral treatment plan, training of support staff and family to carry out the plan, and monitoring of the individual and the provider in the implementation of the plan.

Social Skills Groups- Weekly group sessions of between 4-6 individuals to work on specific social skills. Facilitated by a clinical psychologist.

Job Coaching- Could include work, volunteer and apprenticeship experiences. Includes activities to support:

- Stabilization with job
- Measurement of production, social abilities, essentials and independence at the job
- Job satisfaction
- Social skills training, practice scripts and social autopsy
- Monitoring job performance
- Assessment of interests, strengths and opportunities for employment
- Training in activities to secure and sustain employment: interviewing skills, workplace etiquette, workplace culture, travel training
- Job development
- Task analysis
- Job analysis, natural supports at worksite

Life Skills Coaching- Assist with the acquisition, improvement and/or retention of skills and provide necessary support to achieve personal outcomes that enhance an individual's ability to live in their community as specified in the individual service plan. This service is intended for specific instruction and training in a personal outcome. Provision of the service may be limited to the person's own or family home and/or in their community. This service is expected to coordinate strategies with all other service providers and to adjust strategies as needed. This service may be self-directed or provided through a qualified agency.

Examples include:

- Instruction and training in one or more need areas

- Implementation of strategies to address needs identified in the Individual Service Plan.
- Data collection on target strategies
- Implementation of therapeutic recommendations including speech, communication, social skills, leisure/recreation skills, O.T., P.T.
- Identification and adjustment of strategies as needed
- Ongoing communication with service coordinator and all other service providers pertaining to implementation of strategies.
- Mobility training
- Adaptive communication training
- Provide training or practice in basic consumer skills such as banking, budgeting, and shopping.
- Provide instruction and training in one or more need areas to enhance the person's ability to live independently in their own home, and enhance the individual's ability to access in the community
- Assist the individual to complete daily living activities, or to access the community.
- Periodic telephone or e-mail communication with individual receiving services as specified in plan

Community Mentor- Assistance necessary to meet the individual's day-to-day activity and daily living needs and to reasonably assure adequate support at home and in the community to carry out personal outcomes. Cueing and supervision of activities is included. Examples include:

- Providing social interactions
- Assistance to or supervising the individual with such tasks as light housekeeping, meal preparation, laundry or shopping
- Assistance to access and attend community activities such as accompanying the individual while traveling to activities or helping the individual to access leisure activities.
- May provide some intermittent checking in by telephone call during periods of absence from the caregiver.

Develop a System to Organize Your Paperwork

There are numerous non-related autism organizations and websites providing useful information related to records management. There may not be too many things more frustrating than looking for an important health document or a school record from a few years ago. When the need presents itself, be prepared by developing a system of organizing your documents that works for you.

The Balance Careers offers tips on organizing the most important documents you possess such as home and property records, auto records, health records, financial records, electronics, and personal records. Visit <https://www.thebalancecareers.com/how-to-organize-your-paperwork-3544878>

Understand What it Means to move from Entitlement to Eligibility

According to The Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), once your child either earns a high school diploma or a Certificate of Program Completion, this means that public education is now complete. Your child has transitioned from the stage of Entitlement to the stage of Eligibility.

Pathfinders for Autism website contains information related to Entitlement vs. Eligibility

You can apply online at <https://www.ssa.gov/benefits/ssi/> . Once you finish the online process, a Social Security representative will contact you for any additional information needed for the applications. You can also call 1-877-405-4874.

Apply for Medicaid at your Local Department of Social Services

Medicaid is a wide-ranging health insurance program for low-income individuals of all ages. Jointly funded by the state and federal government, it provides health coverage for various groups of Connecticut residents, including pregnant women, parents and caretaker relatives, adults with no dependent children, disabled individuals, and seniors. However, this page is focused strictly on Medicaid eligibility for Connecticut elders, aged 65 and over, and specifically for long term care, whether that be at home, in an adult foster care home, in a nursing home, or in an assisted living facility.

Medicaid in Connecticut is also called HUSKY Health, and Medicaid for state residents who are aged, blind & disabled is called HUSKY C.

Explore the Legal Implications of Reaching Age 18 (Conservatorship)

The age at which an individual is considered legally an adult, or “age of majority”, in most states is 18.

SOURCE: CGS Sec. 1-1d https://www.cga.ct.gov/current/pub/chap_001.htm#sec_1-1d

This means individuals in the State of Connecticut are old enough to be considered legally capable of making personal and financial decisions. Individuals with autism, however, may be unable to direct his or her own personal affairs and/or financial decisions, therefore, matters related to their safety, health, and finances are of concern.

A conservator is a person appointed by the probate court to oversee the financial or personal affairs of an adult determined to be incapable of managing his or her own affairs or unable to care for himself or herself. There are two basic types of conservatorships:

- A conservator of the person is appointed to supervise the personal affairs of an individual who is found by the court to be unable, even with appropriate assistance, to meet essential requirements for personal needs. These needs may include, but are not limited to, the need for food, clothing, shelter, health care, and safety.
- A conservator of the estate is appointed to supervise the financial affairs of an individual who is found by the court to be incapable of doing so himself to the extent that property will be wasted unless adequate property management is provided. This may include, but is not limited to, actions to obtain and manage assets, income and public assistance benefits.
- A person may be in need of one or both types of conservators. Two separate individuals may perform these two roles, or one person may serve in both capacities. A conservator of the estate or person may be an individual, a legally authorized municipal or state official, or a private or nonprofit corporation. However, hospitals and nursing homes cannot be appointed conservators of either the person or the estate, and banks cannot be appointed conservators of the person.

Learn about Life Planning Tools

ABLE National Resource Center- Achieving a Better Life Experience (ABLE) account - ABLE Accounts, which are tax-advantaged savings accounts for individuals with disabilities and their families, were created as a result of the passage of the Stephen Beck Jr., Achieving a Better Life Experience Act of 2014 or better known as the ABLE Act. The beneficiary of the account is the account owner, and income earned by the accounts will not be taxed. Contributions to the account, which can be made by any person (the account beneficiary, family and friends), must be made using post-taxed dollars and will not be tax deductible for purposes of federal taxes, however some states may allow for state income tax deductions for contribution made to an ABLE account <http://www.ablenrc.org/about/what-are-able-accounts>
