

Introducing OCC's Utilities Examiner I Tyra Anne Peluso

Tyra Anne Peluso joined the Office of Consumer Counsel (OCC) in November 2018 as a Utilities Examiner I, providing support to staff and attorneys in utility proceedings in electric, gas, water, telecom and cable industries.

Before joining the OCC, Tyra was a senior regulatory affairs analyst for the world's largest utility company supporting its renewable initiatives and projects throughout North America. Tyra has experience at the Public Utilities Regulatory Authority and has held senior level regulatory positions at both local utility companies where she assisted in coordinating the representation of the organization's interests before state regulatory bodies. Tyra served as vice chair of Diversity Council, campaign coordinator of the United Way, and was an active member of the CEO Advisory Team.

Tyra holds a Bachelor of Science, cum laude, in Business from Lesley University. She is a graduate of the Northeast Utilities Finance Academy, UCONN. Tyra is also certified in process and facilitation.

In her spare time, Tyra focuses on her philanthropy, specifically, the Connecticut chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, North Shore Animal League, and Fidelco Guide Dog Foundation. In addition, Tyra is a member of the MetroHartford Alliance, Hartford Young Professionals ("HYPE") and served as vice chair to the Personal & Professional Development Committee in 2015.
