Collaborative Learning Hub

#CTLEARNINGHUB

The Collaborative Learning Hub is a place for teachers to leave more curious than when they arrived.

Teacher collaboration involves teachers working together to think about teaching and learning with an eye toward improving student learning outcomes.

The Collaborative Learning Hub and GoOpenCT creates an online space for teachers to come together as professional learning networks statewide, to share expertise, lesson ideas, teaching strategies, and best practices.

In GoOpenCT, Connecticut's Public Library of Open Educational Resources, any Connecticut teacher can join a group by content of choice.

In this space, teachers can begin a discussion thread; and upload or download instructional resources and strategies that have been shared by fellow group colleagues.

Together we will make the ordinary practice of collaboration extraordinary.

Educators working closely together in the development, selection, and sharing of instructional resources and learning strategies is how we reimagine Connecticut classrooms and accelerate learning for all children.
