Schooling for Critical Consciousness

- Introduction to critical consciousness
- Five tools for fostering critical consciousness
- Questions, comments & feedback

Racism, Not Genetics, Explains Why Black Americans Are Dying of COVID-19

The latest overall COVID-19 mortality rate for Black Americans is 2.4 times as high as the rate for Whites and 2.2 times as high as the rate for Asians and Latinos.
Young People’s Awareness of Racism

- Children of color in the U.S. as young as six years old demonstrate awareness of stereotypes about their own racial group (Bigler, Averhart, & Liben, 2003).

- 77% of African American adolescents report at least one incident of experienced discrimination within the past three months (Prelow, Danoff-Burg, Swenson, & Puligino, 2004; Seaton, 2010).

Culture of Achievement

- Schools need to foster Black youths’ identities of achievement by honoring the long history of Black achievement in the face of constraints and limits.

Achievement as Resistance

- Belief that one’s own achievement represents a counter-narrative and form of resistance to White supremacy — Dorinda Carter Andrews

Resilient Resistance

- A process in which students a) confront the negative portrayals and ideas about their group; b) are motivated by these negative images and ideas; and c) are driven to navigate through the educational system for themselves and for other group members — Tara Yosso
Defining Critical Consciousness

- To recognize oppressive social forces shaping society and take action against them (Freire, 1973)

- “Read the word in order to read the world”

Why Critical Consciousness Matters

- Resilience/healing (Ginwright, 2010)
- Self-esteem (Godfrey et al., 2019)
- Political engagement (Diemer & Li, 2011)
- Professional aspirations (Diemer & Blustein, 2006)
- Academic engagement (O'Connor, 1997)
- Academic achievement (Seider, Clark, & Graves, 2020)

Dimensions of Critical Consciousness

- Social Analysis
- Political Agency
- Social Action

Watts, Diemer, & Voight, 2011
Social Analysis
The ability to name and analyze the social, political, and economic forces that contribute to inequity and inequality.

Political Agency
The belief that one has the capacity to effect social or political change

Social Action
A wide range of activities through which individuals seek to resist and challenge oppressive forces.
Our Study

- Research question
  - What role can schools and educators play in fostering youth critical consciousness?
- 5 high schools
  - Civic missions
  - Diverse pedagogical approaches
- Class of 2017
  - 5 waves of surveys (335 students)
  - 4 waves of interviews (60 students, 31 faculty)
  - 335 observation days

Key Tools for Fostering Critical Consciousness

- Introducing a framework
- Students teaching students
- Effecting school change
- Real-world assignments
- Teachers getting personal

Applying the Three I’s Framework

- “Like, in our city, it’s a lot of Chicken Shacks everywhere. You can always find a Chicken Shack here, but if you go out to like the suburbs or something like that, you’re not gonna find one nowhere around. Like you might find a Whole Foods or like a farmer’s market or something like that. The options of everything is just much different, and it just seem like certain things are put where they put for a reason. Freshman year, when we was in the [Social Engagement] class, it made me think about stuff differently, and once I started thinking about it, you start putting the pieces together, and you start noticing like nothing happens just because. Like, it’s all for some reason, like somebody’s benefitting from everything, somebody’s not benefitting from everything. It’s set up this way for a certain reason.”

#ACTIVISM
• “Some of the seniors had to make a Change the World project in order to graduate, and their project was like make some kind of change, with like police violence. So like, we went on basically a march, I guess. We went to a precinct. And then we just stood there with posters, some of us laid on the ground, you know. We stayed there for a while... It kind of made me feel like maybe what I'm doing may change something, you know. Maybe people are going to start seeing what we did as, you know, something important.”

--Angela, 11th grade, Leadership High School
Change the World Projects

• “I feel like the twelfth graders are...teaching us their ways so that we’re able when we get to twelfth grade to have a Change the World project that actually means something.”

Effecting School Change

Electronic Device Policy
All appropriate times and with teacher permission, student use of electronic devices in class can enhance learning and create deeper connections to the curriculum. Phones, tablets, smart watches, and computers are all considered "devices." In response to the rapidly-changing world of technology,
Effecting School Change

• “In summary,” a young man explained at the end of the twenty minute presentation, “the technology policy is outdated and incorrect, particularly in regard to tablets. So the media pass allows the use of phones and headphones at certain times. There is no media pass at lunch because this is when we need to be more social and put away electronics. And it helps us prepare for college because in college you have more freedom to decide what you want to do.”

--11th Civics Presentation to Faculty

Effecting School Change

Dear Civics Class:

First of all, congratulations on a very well-done presentation. It was a delight to see you so poised and comfortably delivering your information to the faculty yesterday. Thank you! We do find ourselves with a couple of questions which we’re hoping you could respond to, largely concerning headphones.

Question 1: While you presented an article about the benefits of headphones, there are many others that indicate students achieved lower test scores with music. Did you do selective research?

Question 2: Why encourage/allow headphones usage from 3-4 PM, a time when many students are working on homework often, now unproductively? Will this improve their efforts, or will time be spent searching for the perfect song?

In all honesty, you are quite convincing in your presentation, but we are sharing our concerns so that you we can continue to think about this before we implement a policy that could change the educational environment we have worked hard to create at Espiritu High School.

Thanks for your efforts!

The Espiritu Faculty

Effecting School Change

“I never really thought that schools, like, listened to [students]. But Espiritu really listens to its students. Being able to make change here, it does impact my future because I believe, like if I can make change within a small group, I can make change over a big group throughout a long period of time.”

Real World Assignments & COVID-19

• Producing online content is “realer” than it has ever been

Common Tools

• Introducing a framework
• Students teaching students
• Effecting school change
• Real-world assignments
• Teachers getting personal

Teachers Getting Personal

• “I chose to write about the [White] classmate who told me I'd never graduate. What happened was I went up to a student and asked if I could be part of her study group. And she said 'no, because no one thought I'd graduate.' Imagine someone telling you that on the second day of graduate school that you're going to fail. And there will be people who say that to you.”

COVID?
- Learning at the intersection of technological possibilities and the components of the critical consciousness framework (analysis, agency, action)
- Authentic learning in the face of geographic and technological limitations. Students’ communities and families can become sites of inquiry and action
- Given the limitations, maybe focus on one of the three components that seems most feasible under the circumstances.
