

Summary Form for Summer Food Serve Program (SFSP) Civil Rights Beneficiary Data Collection

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) is responsible for ensuring compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 among its federally assisted programs, including the SFSP. The USDA's FNS Instruction 113-1: Civil Rights Compliance and Enforcement – Nutrition Programs and Activities requires recipients of federal financial assistance to ask all program applicants and participants to identify all racial and ethnic categories that apply. The USDA uses this race and ethnicity data to determine how effectively FNS programs are reaching potential eligible persons and beneficiaries, identify areas where additional outreach is needed, assist in the selection of locations for compliance reviews, and complete reports as required.

SFSP sponsors cannot use visual observation and identification to collect race or ethnicity data. The preferred method of collecting demographic data is self-identification and self-reporting. The Connecticut State Department of Education (CSDE) has developed a sample form, Civil Rights Beneficiary Data Collection Form for the SFSP, that SFSP sponsors may use or adapt to ask program participants to self-identify race and ethnicity.

SFSP sponsors may also obtain race or ethnicity data in alternative ways. One example is utilizing data from other sources (such as school databases) in which the respondent has self-identified race or ethnicity.

For more information on the requirements for civil rights beneficiary data collection, refer to the CSDE's document, Civil Rights Requirements for the SFSP.

Instructions

Each SFSP sponsor must collect actual beneficiary data by racial or ethnic category from each site each year. Residential camps must collect information separately for each session of the camp. Use the form on page 2 to summarize this data.

The SFSP sponsor must retain this data and supporting documentation on file for three years after the submission date of the final claim for reimbursement for the fiscal year to which they pertain; or if an audit is outstanding, until the audit is closed. Access to this data must be limited to authorized personnel.
