Request for Proposals

I. Overview

There are more than 100 low-performing schools heavily concentrated in 30 high-need school districts in Connecticut. These schools typically lack the data infrastructure, assessment systems, and aligned professional learning opportunities necessary to empower leaders and teachers to increase student achievement. The Connecticut State Department of Education ("CSDE") and the Turnaround Office do not have the capability or capacity to meaningfully address the systemic needs of these schools. Therefore, the CSDE is seeking professional services for such schools. Specifically, the Turnaround Office seeks a provider willing and able to offer the services described in Section II.B of this Request for Proposals ("RFP").

II. Outline of Work

A. Purpose:

The purpose of this RFP is to identify a proven provider(s) able to offer the professional services listed below. It is expected that these services will lead to significant gains in student achievement.

B. Scope and Activities:

The CSDE seeks a proven provider(s) willing and able to:

1. Offer a rigorous interim assessment system, aligned to the Common Core State Standards (CCSS), to a cohort of low-performing schools in multiple districts.
2. Provide ready-to-administer periodic assessments for students in representative grade levels and core content areas that are aligned to the CCSS, which may be administered at least four times during the academic year.
3. Support all logistics associated with test administration, collection, scoring, and analysis in schools.
4. Analyze and score student assessments, and provide reports back to the schools, districts, and the CSDE.
5. Offer access to real-time and user-friendly data outputs, allowing educators to track student progress through aggregate and disaggregated longitudinal reporting.
6. Design systems and tools to measure student proficiency and growth over time.
7. Provide access to comparative data, allowing schools to benchmark overall proficiency and growth relative to schools serving similar student populations in like environments.
8. Support school improvement planning, progress monitoring, and annual goal-setting, as informed by student data.
9. Provide job-embedded professional learning opportunities for teachers, administrators, and support staff to build capacity in areas such as assessment systems, use of data, differentiation, and student interventions.
10. Provide educators with on-site coaching and access to instructional resources.
11. Offer teachers access to curricular resources, such as lesson plans, pacing guides, assessment schedules, and intervention protocols.
12. Support the CSDE in coordinating and analyzing assessments across schools.

C. Deliverables:

1. Assessments: The provider will offer rigorous quarterly assessments, aligned to CCSS, in core content areas for representative grade levels. These common assessments will be administered in all schools identified by the CSDE.

2. Analytics and Data Infrastructure: The provider will generate user-friendly data outputs detailing the results of the interim assessments, providing aggregate and disaggregated reports by student, class, and grade level. The data reports will incorporate benchmark data from other schools and districts outside of the scope of this contract as a point of comparison for the selected Connecticut schools. These outputs will give teachers detailed information about which students have displayed mastery of which standards, as well as providing trends within the class and the school, and over time. All data outputs must be easily accessible to teachers, school leaders, and other staff, as well as to district and CSDE staff (e.g. through a secure online portal).

3. Professional Learning Opportunities: The provider will create and deliver professional learning opportunities to support school staff in gleaning information from the data outputs and using this information strategically to modify and differentiate instruction to maximize student mastery of standards.

D. Outcomes:

By partnering with a proven provider to offer the above professional services for low-performing schools, the Turnaround Office aims to achieve the following outcomes:

1. Launch a common assessment system across a network of low-performing schools, in part by using assessments and data reports to build a community of practice across schools.

2. Facilitate the use of assessment data to inform and differentiate instruction, including by providing diagnostic and prognostic data to allow for timely interventions for struggling students.

3. Support the development of a rich data culture, whereby educators regularly have access to and use data to inform decision-making and instruction.

4. Dramatically increase student achievement in low-performing schools.

E. Timeline:

The anticipated start date of the contract(s) potentially resulting from this RFP is March 1, 2014. The provider(s) would be expected to collaborate with the CSDE and participating districts during spring and summer of 2014 to prepare for full implementation of the new systems for the start of the 2014-15 school year. From August 2014 to August 2015, the provider(s) would be expected to implement the services and deliverables described herein.
III. Contractor Qualifications

The CSDE is seeking proposals from providers who:

1. Have the necessary capacity and infrastructure to deliver on all elements listed in Sections II.B (“Scope and Activities”) and II.C (“Deliverables”).

2. Have demonstrated an ability to partner with low-performing schools and can point to growth in student performance resulting from the delivery of professional services.

3. Are willing to work collaboratively with the CSDE and partner schools and districts by adapting to local context to successfully implement the services outlined herein.

4. Have the ability to offer pre-implementation services beginning in spring 2014 and full implementation services beginning in fall 2014.

5. Have 501(c)(3) not-for-profit status.

Proposers must submit references from schools and/or districts in which they have offered similar services in order to prove their qualifications (see Section IV). Proposers must also submit sample work products indicative of the deliverables summarized in Section II.C (“Deliverables”).
