REGISTRATION OF FEEDS

Manufacturers, jobbers or individuals outside the State who ship concentrated commercial feeding stuffs into Connecticut are expected to register the brands so shipped and to pay the necessary fees thereon, and they generally do so. However, under the provisions of our law, if manufacturers or others outside the State neglect or refuse to register, the local dealer who handles such feeds is responsible for such registrations, registration fees and other legal requirements.

In the course of trade, feeds manufactured in another State frequently pass through the hands of several middlemen, none of whom is within the immediate jurisdiction of our law, before they reach the local distributor. This Station makes reasonable investigation to find out the source of shipment of feeds found to be unregistered, but the law imposes no obligation upon it to do so. It is the plain duty therefore of local dealers who purchase feed for resale and distribution to assure themselves that the brands they purchase are registered, or else be prepared to assume that responsibility themselves.

Feeds mixed to the order of the consumer may be sold as "special formulas" and need not be registered. Such must be sold without any private brand names and without analysis. Special formulas sold to others than the consumers for whom they are mixed become regular brands subject to registration and other requirements pertaining thereto.

COMMERCIAL FEEDING STUFFS

REPORT OF INSPECTION

1938

E. M. BAILEY

THE FEED LAW

THE STATUTE relating to concentrated commercial feeding stuffs imposes upon the Station (1) all duties incidental to the annual registration of feeds offered for sale in the State; (2) the collection of samples for inspection and analysis; (3) the examination of all samples so collected; (4) the preparation and publication of a bulletin summarizing the results of inspection and giving other pertinent information; and (5) joint responsibility with the Dairy and Food Commissioner for rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of the law.

The enforcement provisions of the statute are delegated to the Dairy and Food Commissioner.

In 1899 a statute regulating the sale of concentrated commercial feeding stuffs was enacted. The Station was charged with the administration of the Act, which provided for proper labelling and for annual inspections and analyses, but which did not require registration. The Dairy and Food Commissioner was made responsible for enforcement of the law and for instituting corrective action upon evidence of violations submitted by the Station.

For many years prior to the enactment of this special law the Station had made analyses of feeds as a part of its regular service to the agriculture of the State.

In 1925 the statute of 1899 was amended to require registration of commercial feeding stuffs with the Station and a registration fee of fifteen dollars ($15) for each brand so registered.

The essential provisions of the present law and regulations may be briefly summarized.

Exemptions. It is held that the law exempts from classification as concentrated commercial feeding stuffs, and therefore from registration: (1) Roughages such as hays, straws, corn stover, ensilage and all similar materials containing more than 60 percent of water; (2) whole grains and mixtures thereof; (3) meals made from whole grains when not mixed with other materials or with each other; (4) feed ground from whole grains and sold by the manufacturer directly to the consumer; (5) feed ground from materials furnished by the consumer; or (6) feed mixed according to a formula furnished by the consumer for his own use.

Under the provision of clause six above, a feed must be sold as a formula only, without a private brand name and without analysis. But a feed cannot be offered for general trade as a formula in order to avoid registration and the registration fee.

Labelling. All concentrated commercial feeding stuffs must be labelled either by a statement printed on the bag or upon a properly attached tag; except that in the case of cottonseed meal sold for fertilizer, or of any concentrated feeding stuff sold in bulk, a certificate, which shall contain the information otherwise required to appear upon the bag or upon the tag, may be issued by the dealer in lieu thereof.

The law requires a statement of: (1) the net weight of the feed contained in the package; (2) the name, brand or trademark under which the feed is sold; (3) name and address of the manufacturer or importer; (4) the minimum percentages of (a) crude protein and (b) crude fat, and the maximum percentage of (c) crude fiber contained in the feed; and (5) the separate ingredients of which the feed is composed.

Affixing tags. The use of wire or any metal in affixing tags to feed packages is prohibited by law.

Registration and registration fee. The law requires an annual registration of all concentrated feeds sold or offered for sale in this State. Registrations are to be made with the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station and beginning January 1, 1928, the registration period is for the duration of the calendar year. The registration fee is fifteen dollars ($15), for each brand, a distinct brand name or a distinct analysis constituting a distinct brand.

Duties of manufacturers, jobbers and dealers. All concentrated commercial feeding stuffs must be registered annually on January 1, or before they are offered for sale.

Manufacturers, jobbers or individuals shipping feeds into Connecticut will be expected to register their brands and pay the necessary fees thereon. Connecticut dealers should assure themselves that the brands they handle are properly registered and labelled. In case the manufacturer or jobber outside the State neglects or refuses to register, the dealer who handles such feeds will be held responsible for such registrations, registration fees and other legal requirements.

Dealers within the State who mix their own brands are responsible for the registration and proper labelling thereof.

Cottonseed meal. Cottonseed meal sold as a fertilizer is required to be registered under the terms of the fertilizer law; if sold also as a feeding stuff, it is required also to be registered under the provisions of the feed law; if sold exclusively for one or the other of these purposes, it may be registered only under the law that applies.

Registrations

REGISTRATIONS

For the period January 1, 1938 to December 31, 1938

For the period January 1, 1938 to December 31, 1938, 184 firms registered 1106 brands of feeding stuffs; and 13 firms registered 18 brands of vitamin D carriers.

As required by statute the registrations are listed as follows:

INSPECTION

For the year 1938 a total of 1,640 samples of feeding stuffs and related materials have been examined. They are classified as follows:

Concentrated feed stuffs, official samples.....	888
Miscellaneous feeds examined for individuals.....	134
Feeds and other materials examined for poisons.....	86
Pasture grass samples and other fodder materials from Storrs.....	477
Vitamin D carriers.....	55
Total.....	1,640

A summary of the results of the inspection and analysis of the official samples, other than dog feeds and cod liver oils, is as follows:

Total number of samples.....	888
Samples deficient in:
one item.....	112
two items.....	14
three items.....	4
Percentage of samples meeting guaranties in all respects.....	85
Total guaranties made.....	2,651 ¹
Guaranties not met:
protein.....	37
fiber.....	35
fat.....	80
Percentage of guaranties met.....	94

All mixed feeds have been examined microscopically. No appreciable contamination with weed seeds was discovered and the ingredients were in substantial agreement with the registrations so far as could be determined.

Registration of feeds was first required in 1925. The number of official samples examined ranged from 488 in that year to 739 in 1931. Since 1932 the number has exceeded 800 and for the year covered by this report it is nearly 900.

Since 1925 the proportion of samples found to substantially meet guaranties in all respects has ranged from 78 percent (in 1928), to 93 percent (in 1937); and the proportion of individual guaranties substantially met has ranged from 92 percent (in 1928), to 97 percent (in 1937).

Analyses are given in Table 1.

VITAMIN D CARRIERS

R. B. HUBBELL AND E. M. BAILEY

According to a regulation issued in 1937 vitamin D carriers used as supplements in the feeding of poultry are required to be registered annually with this Station in the same manner and under the same conditions as obtain for feeding stuffs in general. The regulation became effective on January 1, 1938.

Information to be given on labels and in applications for registration is: (1) name of the product; (2) vitamin D potency in terms of A.O.A.C. chick units per gram; (3) name and address of the manufacturer, distributor or other persons responsible for the product; and, on the label, a statement of net weight or volume.

¹Thirteen samples with only two guaranties.

Manufacturers, jobbers or individuals shipping cod liver oil or other vitamin D carriers into Connecticut will be expected to register the brands so shipped and to pay the necessary registration fee on each brand. A distinct brand name or a distinct vitamin D unitage constitutes a distinct brand.

In case the manufacturer, jobber or individual outside the State neglects or refuses to register, the local dealer who sells such vitamin D carriers, or offers them for sale, will be held responsible for such registrations, registration fees and proper labelling. Dealers within the State who sell or offer for sale vitamin D carriers under their own brand names are responsible for registration and proper labelling thereof.

For the calendar year, 1938, thirteen firms registered 18 brands. Biological tests have been made of all brands found on sale; and some brands have had repeated tests, the samples representing different lots and being drawn at different places. Samples have not been taken from original unopened drums or other containers in all cases. Unless original unopened packages are sampled, the manufacturer may properly hold that he cannot accept responsibility for the substance and quality of the product examined. On the other hand, our samples from opened containers represent what is being dispensed by the distributor and represent also what the customer obtains. If the integrity of the article so sampled is questioned, responsibility would no doubt rest with the distributor rather than with the manufacturer.

Our inspection experience indicates that it is not uncommon for distributors to dispense from drums or other containers in small quantities until the container is emptied. If only original, unopened drums are sampled, biological tests of such samples are not necessarily a guide for the purchaser who wishes to buy in limited quantities from bulk. If vitamin D potency does diminish substantially from natural causes within a reasonable dispensing period, perhaps an expiration date stamped on the container would be a remedy. To safe-guard against other contingencies whereby quality might be impaired, such products might be packed in small unit containers to be resold as such.

On the basis of our sampling in the past year, practically all from opened containers, it appears that about 85 percent of the samples examined have substantially met or exceeded the vitamin D potencies claimed for them. Of the remaining 15 percent showing deficiencies, how many were due to natural deterioration or to possible manipulation after the original packing, or to initial deficiencies, cannot of course be determined. In other words, whatever criticism may attach to the mode of sampling, the results compare favorably with those obtained with feeding stuffs in general.

Fifty-five samples were examined of which 42 were satisfactory, 5 passed and 8 below standard.

In addition a considerable number of bioassays have been made for investigational purposes in collaboration with the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists for the purpose of improving methods of technic and procedure.

MATERIALS EXAMINED FOR POISONS

C. E. SHEPARD

Eighty-six samples of feeds, fodder materials and specimens of animal viscera have been submitted for examination. These specimens are submitted on suspicion that some poison or injurious substance is contained therein which might explain or suggest the cause of sickness or death of animals or poultry. The examinations often require a considerable time but the service is very evidently appreciated by farmers and others interested. Many of the specimens are referred to us by or at the suggestion of the Department of Animal Diseases of the Storrs Station, or the Commissioner on Domestic Animals; some are submitted by veterinarians or by the owners of stock or poultry. The specimens of viscera should be sent in clean glass containers and, wherever possible, autopsies should be made by veterinarians so that we may have the benefit of any suggestions from them that will save our time or facilitate our work.

In 31 of the samples submitted substances were found which in kind and quantity might be regarded as probable causes of death or acute symptoms, or of possible significance in such connection. The substances found were yellow phosphorus, nitrates, lead, arsenic, mercury and antimony. The latter may have been due to medication as a remedy for, and not a cause of, illness. Several alkaloidal or other plant principles were suspected but not identified. Among these samples was a dog food supplement supposed to be calcium phosphate. It was submitted by a purchaser who had fed it to puppies. All of them became very ill and one died. The product contained 38 percent of fluorine, practically all in water-soluble form. The indicated composition of the powder was 80 parts of sodium fluoride and 20 parts of dicalcium phosphate. Arsenic was also present in the amount of 75 parts per million. The latter, although excessive, would probably not cause any acute symptoms as the result of a single feeding. Sodium fluoride is a powerful poison. The can in question was evidently very old stock and no evidence of fluorine was found in any of the stock being distributed at the time when our examination was made.

MISCELLANEOUS

One hundred and thirty-four samples of miscellaneous feeds submitted by individuals for regular analysis have been examined and reported to those interested. No detailed discussion is required.
