

What Happens When You File a Complaint

CHRO will notify you when it receives your complaint and will normally:

- Notify the alleged violator of your complaint and require an answer be submitted
- Investigate your complaint and determine whether there is reasonable cause to believe that the Act has been violated

Conciliation: CHRO will try to reach an agreement with the person your complaint is against. A conciliation agreement must protect both you and the public interest. If an agreement is signed, CHRO will take no further action on your complaint. However, if CHRO has reasonable cause to believe that a conciliation agreement is breached, CHRO can file suit to enforce the agreement.

Hearing: After investigating your complaint, CHRO will inform you as to whether there is reasonable cause to believe that discrimination occurred. If reasonable cause is found, your case will be heard in an administrative hearing unless you or the respondents want the case to be heard in Superior Court. Either way, there is no cost to you.

Complaint Referrals: If CHRO has determined that your complaint also alleges a violation of the Federal Fair Housing Act, CHRO will assist you in filing a federal complaint with the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Your Right to Equal Opportunity Housing

Connecticut's Discriminatory Housing Practices Act

Connecticut's Discriminatory Housing Practices Act prohibits discrimination in housing because of:

- Race or color
- National origin
- Ancestry
- Creed (Religion)
- Sex
- Marital Status
- Age (non-minors)
- Familial status (families with children under the age of 18 living with parents or legal custodians and pregnant women)
- Disability (physical, mental or learning)
- Lawful source of income (income derived from social security, SSI, housing assistance such as Section 8, child support, alimony, public or general assistance)
- Sexual orientation
- Gender Identity or Expression
- Veteran Status

What Housing is Covered?

The Act covers most housing. In some circumstances, the Act may exempt owner-occupied buildings with up to four units and housing designed for and occupied by older persons. Other exemptions may apply in certain circumstances.

What Is Prohibited?

In the Sale and Rental of Housing: No one may take any of the following actions based on race, color, national origin, ancestry, creed, marital status, age, familial status, disability, lawful source of income, sex or sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or status as a veteran:

- Refuse to rent or sell housing
- Refuse to negotiate for housing
- Make housing unavailable
- Deny a dwelling
- Set different terms, conditions or privileges for the sale or rental of a dwelling
- Provide different housing services or facilities
- Falsely deny housing is available for inspection, sale or rental
- For profit, induce owners to sell or rent (blockbusting)
- Deny anyone access to or membership in a facility or service (such as a multiple listing service) related to the sale or rental of housing,
- Restrict or attempt to restrict the choices of any buyer or renter (steering)
- Discriminate in providing mortgage or home equity loans.

In addition, if you have a mental or physical disability, your landlord may not: 1) refuse to let you make reasonable modifications, at your expense, if necessary for you to use the housing; or, 2) refuse to make reasonable accommodations in rules, practices, or services if necessary for you to use the housing.

If You Think Your Rights Have Been Violated

CHRO is ready to help you with any problem involving housing discrimination. If you think your rights have been violated, contact the CHRO to discuss your situation, to obtain the forms for filing a formal complaint, or to make an appointment for assistance in filing a formal complaint. A formal notarized complaint must be filed no later than 300 days after an alleged violation, but you should file as soon as possible.

What to tell CHRO:

- Your name, address, phone number, and email address (if you have one)
- The name and address of the person your complaint is against
- The address or other identification of the housing involved
- A short description of the alleged event(s) that caused you to believe that your rights were violated
- The date these events occurred

Where to Write: Send your inquiry or formal complaint to:
