Day 1 Agenda

- Needs Assessment
 - Definition
 - Benefits & Challenges
 - Best Practices
- Analyzing Performance Problems
 - Performance Analysis
 - Cause Analysis
 - Problem Statements

- Data Collection Methods
- Analyzing Data
 - Fast Fix
 - Training Problem
 - Purpose Statements
 - Instructional Goals (Outcomes)
 - Plan of Action
- Feedback

Learning Objectives for Module 3

- At the completion of this module, participants will be able to:
 - Using class notes, explain the necessity of conducting Needs Assessments successfully.
 - Given a specific performance problem, recall at least 5 questions that can be used to analyze the performance.
 - Given your project topic, develop a problem statement that identifies at least 1 driver, 1 piece of evidence, and 1 statistic.

9

Learning Objectives for Module 3

At the completion of this module, participants will be able to:

- Using the Data collected, Differentiate Training Needs from Performance Issues for each identified task.
- Using Class Handouts, Identify One Advantage and One Disadvantage of Each Collection Method.
- Generate at least one potential training and non-training solution to address performance gaps as described in the Independent Project Guidelines (Step 4).

What Is a Needs Assessment?

A process for identifying gaps in desired results and arranging them in priority order for resolution.

What is versus what should be.

Benefits of Conducting a Needs Assessment

- | Identifies Gaps
- | Identifies Causes of Performance Problems or Opportunities
- | Establishes and Prioritizes Objectives
- | Helps Select a Strategy for Implementation
- | Helps Design or Modify Instructional Programs
- | Data Collected Helps Evaluate Progress
- | Reduces the Risk of Failure

Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014

Potential Challenges When Conducting a Needs Assessment (Most Common)

- | Lack of Leadership Support
- | Time Consuming
- | Too much or Too little Information
- | Staff limitations
- | Conflicts Between Programs/Materials
- | Financial Constraints

Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014
No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS.

Best Practices When Conducting a Needs Assessment

- | Get Buy-In from Leaders and Employees
- | Take Time to Obtain Multiple Views

Needs Assessment Considerations

Be Mindful...

- Be prepared
- Be empathetic
- Do not pass judgment
- Communicate Results
 - may lead to more questions and assessment
 - communicate facts – not opinions
- Provide Recommendations and Strategies

16

Analyzing Performance Problems

Answers the question:

“Why aren’t people doing what they should be doing?”

17

Group Discussion

Why aren't people doing what they should be?

What have you been told?

18

Performance Problem Perceptions

- Employees:
 - Have a bad attitude
 - Don't understand
 - Aren't motivated
 - Have been repeatedly told...
- We have a training problem

Conducting a Needs Assessment

What's In It For Me – (Professional)

You will be able to:

- Identify the causes of the problems
- Decide which problems are worth solving
- Describe solutions to help solve the problem
- Decide which solutions are economically feasible

Adapted from Analyzing Performance Problems: Robert F. Mager and Peter Pipe

Conducting a Performance Analysis

- Assesses desired versus actual performance
- Validates performance gaps
- Identifies probable causes

Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014

Most Common Drivers for Performance Gaps

- Employee Requests
- Laws & Regulations
- Equipment Changes
- Workforce Changes

No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS.

Conducting a Cause Analysis

- Uncovers the real reason for performance gaps
- Identifies underlying, "root" causes
- Identifies factors that impede and/or contribute to performance

No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS.

25

Writing a Problem Statement

- Identifies:
 - Why an issue has been raised
 - Discrepancy between actual and desired performance
 - Evidence that a problem exists
 - Drivers and statistics
- Does not include a solution
- Does not need to be extensive

Methods for Collecting Data

- | Review of Relevant Literature
- | Direct Observation
- | Questionnaires/Surveys
- | Consultation with Persons in Key Positions, and/or with Subject Matter Experts (SMEs)
- | Interviews
- | Focus Groups (Stakeholder Meetings)

Analyzing Data

- Review your data for answers:
 - Is this a performance problem or a training problem?
 - Look for trends, patterns, gaps in info
- Organize data on a spreadsheet:
 - Sort data in alphabetical or numerical order
 - Calculate averages whenever possible
- Look at results with a critical eye:
 - Is it complete?
 - Do you need to collect more data?

DAS Learning Center Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014 No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS. ctdn 35

Can Fast Fixes Be Applied?

- Do performers know what they are expected to accomplish?
- Are there obvious obstacles to performance?
- Do performers find out how well they are doing?

Adapted from Analyzing Performance Problems: Robert F. Mager and Peter Pipe Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014 No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS. ctdn 36

Is It a Training Problem?

- Develop a purpose statement
- Develop broad instructional goals

Based on Analyzing Performance Problems by Robert F. Mager & Peter Pipe

Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014

No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS.

37

Writing a Purpose Statement

- Identifies:
 - Primary function of instructional program
 - Context in which the instruction will occur
- Uses plain language
- Shows connection between instruction and business needs
- Limited to 25 words

Example: The purpose of this training program is to present effective strategies for the safe and efficient maintenance of forklifts

Instructional Design: The ADDIE Approach by Robert Maribe Branch

38

Writing Instructional Goals

- Responds to performance gaps that are caused by a lack of knowledge or skills
- Describes what the student will accomplish at the end of the course
- Does not include conditions or standard.

Example: Identify the essential components Fire Safety policies

Example: Apply steps to the RAPID decision-making process when making critical decisions

39

Develop a Plan of Action

- Evaluate all potential solutions
 - Which solution is best?
 - What is the most practical, feasible, and economical?
- Draw up a Plan of Action for Each Solution
 - Who will be expected to implement the solution?
 - How will you get people to implement the solution?

Based on Analyzing Performance Problems by Robert F. Mager & Peter Pipe

Provide Feedback

- Report Findings to stakeholders:
- Include the following information:
 - Problem Statement
 - Purpose Statement
 - Instructional Goals
 - Plan of Action

Connecticut Training & Development Network • 2014

No portion of this curriculum can be reproduced without the expressed permission of the CTDN and CT DAS.

Provide Feedback

- Feedback Methods:
 - Written report
 - Oral presentation
- Support all solutions with evidence
