3. Learning agenda update

   a. College and career success
      Research Analyst Sarah Caro presented her analysis of college readiness using two metrics – exam scores and participation.

      Conclusions from the analysis:
      - Students who are marked "CCR" are more likely to attend college, attend for longer, and earned higher GPAs than students marked "not CCR."
      - Both the Participation and Exam metrics show similar trends for the outcomes investigated.
      - Marking students as "CCR" using the Participation Metric results in a more representative sample of students than marking them with the Exam Metric

      Data Governing Board members expressed interest in having this presented at a future Executive Board meeting.

   b. Roberta Willis Scholarship Program
      A data story has been published to the Open Data Portal, which includes several indicators on the RWSP recipients for both the need-based grant and need-merit scholarship programs.

      - Will include both recipients of the need-based grant and the need-merit scholarship. Education and employment outcomes will be tracked separately.
