Connecticut Clean Hydrogen Roadmap and Stakeholders Discussion

In planning for energy decarbonization pathways and the total future energy demand in Connecticut, and pursuant to Public Act 23-156, the Department of Energy and Environmental Protection (DEEP) developed a Draft 2024 Connecticut Clean Hydrogen Roadmap. The Draft Roadmap seeks to achieve the following objectives:

- Articulate Connecticut's aspirations for clean hydrogen's integration into its energy landscape, outlining its potential contributions to decarbonization, economic growth, and environmental justice
- Encourage the use of hydrogen produced from renewable energy
- Guide strategic development of clean hydrogen production, infrastructure, and end use by identifying the target technologies and their associated volumes over time to scale Connecticut's hydrogen economy
- Identification of benefits and risks associated with hydrogen and tactics to address the identified risks
- Recommend policies, programs, and pilot projects to support clean hydrogen development and deployment in alignment with state goals

DEEP held a public meeting on July 29, 2024, from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. to present and discuss the main findings of the Draft 2024 Connecticut Clean Hydrogen Roadmap. An open- floor discussion session with hydrogen stakeholders
