SUBJECT: Princess House, Inc. Voluntarily Recalls Marissa Tangerine Appetizer Plates Due to Cadmium and Lead Levels

On May 9, 2014, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) issued a press release announcing the voluntary recall of Marissa Tangerine Appetizer Plates by Princess House Inc. The company recently had become aware that a small quantity of its Marissa Tangerine Appetizer Plates, when put into certain food service use, may allow cadmium and lead in the decorative plate decal to escape at levels exceeding U.S. Food and Drug Administration and/or California Proposition 65 guidance levels.

Consumer with one or more of these plates can obtain information about product return and exchange for product of equal or greater value by contacting a sales consultant or by contacting Princess House directly at (877) 233-1647. The voluntary recall can also be viewed on the Princess House website at <http://www.princesshouse.com/Recall/recall.aspx>.

The recall can be found on the FDA website at:

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE - May 9, 2014 - Princess House, Inc., Taunton, MA- A nationwide direct sales distributor of tableware and house goods, announced today that as a result of internal compliance and independent product testing, it has very recently become aware that a small quantity of its Marissa Tangerine Appetizer Plates, when put into certain food service use, may allow cadmium and lead in the decorative plate decal to escape at levels exceeding U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") and/or California Proposition 65 guidance levels.

While not all Plates distributed by the Company have this condition, Princess House is voluntarily recalling all these Plates distributed through its consultant and hostess network. No illness or injury related to this situation has been reported to date.

Note: Only the Tangerine Appetizer Plates are affected by this voluntary recall and all other Marissa collection tableware are not involved.

Product featured below depicts the Marissa Tangerine Appetizer Plate that is the subject of this voluntary recall:

If you are a consumer with one or more of these Plates, you can obtain information about product return and exchange for product of equal or greater value by contacting your sales consultant or hostess or by contacting Princess House directly at (877) 233-1647. You can also review the voluntary recall page on the Princess House website at www.princesshouse.com.

If you are a Princess House consultant or hostess, refer to the mailing provided by the Company or contact the Company directly as outlined above.

This recall is being made with the knowledge of the US Food and Drug Administration.
