

Webinar: Connecticut Urban and Small Scale Agriculture: Grant Readiness and Business Plans

For: Stakeholders in agriculture, urban agriculture, food-related community-based organizations and NGO's, food producers, farmers.

Please join us for a for a workshop on the USDA Urban Agriculture Grants; Urban Agriculture and Innovative Production and the Composting and Food Waste Reduction Cooperative Agreements.

We will be joined by Leslie Glover, from USDA Office of Urban Agriculture to discuss the grant programs and other opportunities through the office to grow, develop and begin farming in urban and suburban areas in Connecticut.

We will also be joined by Latha Swamy and Kimberly Acosta from the Food Systems Policy Division for the City of New Haven and Patrick Doyle of KNOX inc. who will discuss their experiences applying for the urban agriculture grants and present on their awarded projects. The webinars will be recorded and available following the session. There will be time for questions and answers at the end.

Thursday, June 2, 2022 | 7:00 pm to 8:15 pm EDT
REGISTER HERE OR ON OUR WEBPAGE

Session Includes:

Welcome and Introductions:

Connecticut Department of Agriculture

USDA Urban Agriculture Grants and Opportunities with Leslie Glover, USDA Office of Urban Agriculture

CT Awardees of USDA Urban Agriculture Grants

Latha Swamy & Kimberly Acosta, Food Systems Policy Division for the City of New Haven

Patrick Doyle, KNOX inc.

Questions and Answers

For more information and to view recordings of past webinars, please visit <https://bit.ly/3iaFZp1>

