Caleb Peckham of Woodstock, CT, joined an elite group of individuals while putting Killingly High School's FFA program on the map after being named National Winner, America Star in Agricultural Placement at the FFA National Convention in Indianapolis last week.

Congratulations to Caleb, shown here with his parents, Chrissy and Matthew Peckham of Elm Farm, who were also recognized with honorary American FFA degrees earlier this year.

Unique Opportunity to Facilitate Direct Marketing Capacity for Farmed Shellfish

Connecticut Sea Grant and Connecticut Department of Agriculture announce a unique opportunity to facilitate direct marketing capacity for farmed shellfish during COVID-19. As part of a federal grant, Connecticut Sea Grant will purchase a fixed number of portable refrigeration storage units to enable the shellfish aquaculture industry to engage in direct marketing.

The refrigeration units to be tested are portable refrigerated units that can be set on the back of a pickup truck and function on 12V battery power for use in remote locations or be plugged into 110V while at a fixed business location. The units would be provided on a zero-cost, long-term loan basis.

In return, industry members would be required to provide economic cost-benefit analysis to inform the rest of the industry on the feasibility of direct sales using such units. A simple template will be made available, and the CT Sea Grant Extension staff will assist industry members who request help completing the analysis. The goal of this proposal is to support the shellfish sector still suffering from the consequences of the COVID-19 pandemic, and to position it to be more resilient in the future.

Interested licensed industry members must apply for this program via email to: tessa.getchis@uconn.edu by 5:00 p.m. on November 15, 2021. The email should include the following:

1. Applicant full name and business name.
2. Why the portable refrigeration unit is needed.

5. State that you (the applicant) agree to provide proof of insurance coverage for the unit under their custody prior to use of unit.
6. State that you (the applicant) agree to provide a cost-benefit analysis for use of the unit at the end of the project period.
7. State that you (the applicant) agree to surrender unit at the end of the 10-year product life span.

If demand exceeds availability of units, applications will be reviewed by a panel of Sea Grant and Department of Agriculture Bureau of Aquaculture staff for need and merit to determine who will receive units.

NEW FARMER CIRCLES

The New CT Farmer Alliance (NCTFA) is proud to introduce three brand new farmer circles. Farmer Circles are peer learning communities for farmers interested in discussing a particular topic in an informal, supportive environment. The program is run by NCTFA, CT NOFA, and UConn Extension, with the help of a grant from USDA.

Flower Farming:

Facilitated by Isabelle Barron of Best Friends Flowers

First Wednesdays of the Month, 6:30 p.m.: Launching November 2021

This will be a circle for flower farmers who have at least a few years of experience under their belts. We will create a space to check in, ask for advice, and share knowledge on a different topic each circle, and generally build a supportive community of local growers.

Hemp Production:

Facilitated by Luis Vega of WEPA Farms

Second Tuesday of the Month, 10:00 a.m.: Launching November 2021

The revival of hemp as an agricultural crop leaves many questions. Many CT farmers have started to grow it for different purposes, may it be for CBD or for hemp stalks. This new crop opens many questions and challenges we can use some old solutions for. This Farmer's Circle will be a space to discuss the trials, successes and challenges we face cultivating this new (to us) crop.

Farming on Stolen Land: From Research to Action

Facilitated by Cass Darrow of Massaro Community Farm

Mondays, January–February 2022, 7:00–8:30 p.m.

Collaborate in learning about the histories of the particular lands we farm in pursuit of reparative relationships with land and kin alike. Some preliminary questions include: What is the current settler-Indigenous relationship like on the respective lands where we work and live? In what active efforts are local Indigenous groups engaged? How might non-indigenous farmers support this work? What would meaningful coalition-building look like for us as farmers in the pursuit of land-back, reparations, food sovereignty for all, etc.?

Sign up for these new circles, or any of the existing ones, on the NCTFA website.
