 - I. Administrative Directive 2.18, Critical Incident Stress Response Program.
3. Definitions. For the purposes stated herein, the following definitions apply:
 - A. Employee Assistance Program. A Department provided counseling and/or referral services for employees concerning problems of substance abuse, medical or mental health, stress, family conflicts, or any personal issue that may adversely affect the employee's work performance or the well-being of the employee or the employee's family.
 - B. Employee-Centered Programs. Functions which promote the personal and professional enrichment of the Department's employees.
 - C. Immediate Family. A spouse/civil union partner, parent or stepparent, child or stepchild, sibling or stepsibling, grandparent or step grandparent, grandchild or step grandchild.
4. Organization and Responsibilities. Employee-Centered Programs shall be managed by the Director of Training and Staff Development, who shall report to the Deputy Commissioner of Administration on program activity.
5. Employee-Centered Programs. Employee-Centered Programs shall include the Employee Assistance Program (EAP) and the Critical Incident Stress Response Program (CISRP). The Employee-Centered Programs Administrator shall, at a minimum:

Directive Number 2.10	Effective Date 2/15/2007	Page 2 of 3
Title Employee-Centered Programs

- A. Coordinate and supervise the Employee Assistance and Employee-Centered Programs and personnel.
 - B. Serve as the principal liaison with the contracted Employee Assistance provider.
 - C. Design and implement programs for staff enrichment.
 - D. Solicit cooperation and develop support from labor organizations for the Employee-Centered Programs.
 - E. Design data and other reporting systems, maintaining the confidentiality requirements of this Directive and any applicable laws or regulations.
 - F. Prepare an annual report for the Deputy Commissioner of Administration.
6. Critical Incident Stress Response Program. The Employee Centered Programs Administrator shall oversee the CISRP. The CISRP Coordinator shall manage the Critical Incident Stress Response Program in accordance with Administrative Directive 2.18, Critical Incident Stress Response Program and shall report to the Director of Training and Staff Development.
7. Employee Assistance Program. The Employee-Centered Programs Administrator shall act as a liaison for the Department and the contracted group managing the Employee Assistance Program. The contractor shall carry out all EAP related functions, counseling sessions and record keeping. The contractor shall be knowledgeable in all aspects of the EAP including all procedures and confidentiality.
- A. Eligibility. The Department may provide an Employee Assistance Program to all Department employees, immediate family members and to any other person living in the employee's household as appropriate.
 - B. Participation. Employee participation in an Employee Assistance Program shall be voluntary. Participation shall not affect future employment or career advancement. In addition, participation or refusal to participate in an Employee Assistance Program shall not protect the employee from disciplinary action for continued substandard job performance or rule infraction.
 - C. Contacting Employee Assistance. A toll free number shall be provided for employees to contact the Employee Assistance Program at any time. A supervisor may recommend EAP services to an employee if one (1) or more of the following is present:
 - 1. The employee's job performance is substandard;
 - 2. An employee commits a rule infraction; and/or,
 - 3. An employee's behavior may be harmful to self, the public, staff and/or security of the facility.

In addition, the supervisor shall have reason to believe that the employee has a problem that falls within the scope of service of the Employee Assistance Program.

A supervisor's recommendation to the EAP shall be made in writing with a copy to the employee and the Unit Administrator or Unit Head. When an employee is recommended by a supervisor, the EAP shall not contact the employee without the employee's prior permission. Ordinarily, if EAP assistance is desired, the employee shall contact the EAP Program.

Directive Number 2.10	Effective Date 2/15/2007	Page 3 of 3
Title Employee-Centered Programs

A supervisor may contact EAP to determine if an exception is applicable.

- D. Confidentiality. Information pertaining to an employee's participation or non-participation in an assistance program shall not be released by EAP without the employee's authorization. A supervisor who recommends that an employee seek EAP services shall not be informed of participation. However, the employee's Unit Administrator may be notified with the employee's written consent. The Employee Assistance Program shall require a release of information from the employee in order to notify the Unit Administrator that the employee has acted upon the facility's recommendation. This may include confirming documentation from medical professionals to substantiate an absence from work. Records of employees with substance abuse related problems and the results of health surveys or health screening shall be kept confidential.
 - E. Substance Abuse. For the purpose of this Directive, the Department recognizes substance abuse as a treatable illness.
 - F. Cost. The Employee Assistance Program shall be funded by the Department. When assistance is needed which can only be provided by an outside public or private agency, the EAP shall work through the employee's benefit plan. If particular services are not included in the employee's benefit plan, the EAP shall assist the employee with locating the most qualified and cost effective available service.
8. Exceptions. Any exceptions to the procedures in this Administrative Directive shall require prior written approval from the Commissioner.
