In Memoriam: Robin H. Sutherland

The Department of Correction’s family is deeply saddened by the sudden passing of Warden Robin Sutherland, 41, on November 29th. A 19-year veteran of the Department, Warden Sutherland is survived by her husband and their two young children; her mother; and a sister.

A little more than two years ago, Warden Sutherland had suffered a massive heart attack that required her to have heart transplant surgery. Despite the setback, she was determined to return to work as Warden of the Brooklyn Correctional Institution. “She was truly a profile in courage,” said Commissioner Theresa Lantz. “She was an inspiration to all of us.”

Prior to her promotion to Warden, Warden Sutherland spent her entire career at the Osborn Correctional Institution.

From The Commissioner

All of the talk and dire predictions about “the economy “ that we have been hearing for several months now are beginning to hit home for many among us, whether it be through a decline in our deferred retirement accounts, a tightening on credit or perhaps even lay offs of family or friends. The predictions for our state’s fiscal health are also becoming more alarming with time. The Governor just recently projected our deficit for 2010 at $2.6-billion and $3.3-billion for 2011! Her resolve to deal with this was made clear when she said that, “No area of government will be sacrosanct from cuts...” Just what this will mean for the Department of Correction remains to be seen, but since we are in the planning and preparation business, we are going to act now and not wait to see how things develop further. My Executive Team and I have already begun brain storming as to cost savings that we can achieve. As the Governor said, everything is on the table, even small cutbacks, as they will eventually add up. With the second largest budget in state government, some $690-million for this year, we have an equally large obligation to do all we can to use every dollar as wisely as is possible.

Garner CI Staff Thanked

“You are my heroes.” That is how Commissioner Theresa C. Lantz summed up her gratitude to the staff at the Garner Correctional Institution at a recent appreciation luncheon celebrating the facility’s success in carrying out its specialized mental health mission. Shortly after her appointment in March of 2003, Commissioner Lantz established Garner CI as the agency’s designated facility for adult male offenders with significant mental health needs. The consolidation required a new level of collaboration between custody and medical/mental health staff and came under the intensive outside scrutiny of the Office of Protection and Advocacy for Persons with Disabilities stipulated court agreement. “My counterpart with more than 40 years in corrections was always very impressed by what he saw here,” Deputy Commissioner Brian Murphy said in describing the multiple audits under the agreement, which has now been fulfilled and has recently been allowed to expire.

Statistics provided by Warden James Dzurenda demonstrate that the journey has been challenging but ultimately successful. Class “A” Disciplinary reports have gone from some 200 per month to less than 100 per month; incident reports, once close to 250 per month were, as of October 2008, down to 89 per month, and Workers’ Compensation claims have decreased from close to 50 claims per month to now under 20 claims per month. Additionally, more than 640 programs are being held each month. Gratitude for a job well done was also extended to the UConn Correctional Managed Health Care staff, as well as both the NP-4 and NP-8 bargaining units whose support has contributed to the facility’s success.

Union Honors Veterans

Members of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees union paid tribute to our country’s veterans by donating eight plasma televisions to the Connecticut Veterans Home in Rocky Hill. On Monday, November 10th AFSCME installed five 67-inch plasma televisions in five recreation areas at the Home and three 47-inch plasma televisions at the hospital. Along with the TVs came a $500 gift certificate for the purchase of DVD movies.

The idea for the television donation was born a few years back when union member Ray Soucy, while visiting the Home, noticed several residents huddled around a 14-inch television. It was then that Soucy suggested that the union “adopt” the Veterans Home.

In addition to the televisions, A F S C M E Council 4 also raised more than $10,000 for the purchase of custom-made yard furniture. Earlier this year,

Union donated picnic furniture

the Rocky Hill facility received delivery of 40 rocking chairs, eight picnic tables and six benches, all thanks to the union members’ generosity.

Over the past five years, the union has raised more than $250,000 for the Veterans Home.

Veterans Awareness Day at New Haven CC

As part of the Department's on-going effort to assist correctional staff who also serve in the military, the New Haven Correctional Center, in conjunction with the newly formed CTDOC Military Peer Support Program, hosted the first annual Veterans Awareness Day on November 12, 2008. Held the day after Veterans' Day, the goal was to educate all staff on the services provided by the CTDOC Military Peer Support Program and honor NHCC Veteran Staff.

Event organizers included Warden Robert Correa, Human Resource Specialist Nora Ryan and Nurse Supervisor Mike DeSena, a CTDOC Military Peer Support Program and a 19-year veteran of the CT Army National Guard. The lobby of the New Haven facility had informational tables set up in order to introduce the various services provided by the CTDOC Military Peer Support Program, and the Vet Center Services of Connecticut.

Gabor Kautzner and Christopher Hansen from the New Haven Vet Center were present to answer any questions Veterans may have concerning benefits and health care. Combat Veterans themselves, Gabor and Christopher are clinicians at the Vet Center that provide services to all veterans, but focus on returning veterans from the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Sergeant Christopher Gee, a National Guard soldier was also present to assist in providing information to drilling reservist who may have questions relating to benefits and awards while on active duty.

Mike DeSena, along with 38 other individuals, recently completed the 40-hour intensive training for CTDOC Military Peer Support Program, conducted at Camp Rell, Niantic, Connecticut from September 29–October 3, 2008. The program is supervised by Counselor Supervisor Jacqueline Jennett, of Garner CI and Captain Heather Ziemba of York CI. Special thanks go out to the Food Service Staff at NHCC for providing coffee, juice and delicious muffins for everyone and CO Bruce Smith for the set up.

Sullivan Runs NYC Marahon

On Sunday, November 2nd, Lt. Sean Sullivan of the Security Division ran the 2008 New York City Marathon. He completed the more than 26-mile course in a time of four hours and 15 minutes.

Lt. Sullivan participated in the marathon in order to raise money for the "Injured Marine Semper Fi Fund". The tax exempt organization provides assistance for wounded service members and their families as they recover from injuries sustained while fighting "The War on Terror."

Anyone wishing to contribute can write out a check, made out to the fund and send it to Lt. Sullivan in the Security Division at Central Office and he will forward all monies to the fund. For more information regarding the Injured Marine Semper Fi Fund or to donate directly go to: www.semperfifund.org.

I have made the difficult decision to cancel the agency Holiday Party, which I know is looked forward to by many within our correctional family. I cannot commit the funds, given our current fiscal state of affairs. Of further concern is the fact that we as an agency started the year with a more than $20-million deficit. Our current budget was set with the expectation that our offender population would continue to significantly drop, a trend that was temporarily sidetracked by the tragedy in Cheshire. We are finally seeing a slow and steady decline in our population numbers. Let me make clear at this point that things are not going to be easy. We are going to have to reexamine how we do business and look at entirely new concepts and strategies.

On an every day basis, we must make sure that lights are turned out when we leave rooms, computers turned off when not in use and that nothing paid for with hard earned tax dollars is wasted. If you have ideas for savings, pass them up your chain of command and let's put the power of our great staff to work. We already run a pretty tight operation, although we can always save more. We also know how to effectively and safely manage the size of our inmate population. We have done it before, and we can do it again. Above all, what weighs heavily in this equation is your unwavering dedication and commitment to our agency and our state. I know that working together, we can all rise to this challenge just as we have in the past to insure that our facilities are safe and secure and the public is protected.

Around the Cell Block

Kentucky- Of the 1,004 inmates set free under a new early release program, 14 percent have been returned with new crimes.

South Carolina- An inmate's lawsuit seeking to stop state prison officials from forcing inmates into pink jumpsuits if they commit public sex acts has been dismissed.

Texas- A death row inmate has been found with a cell phone inside his body and two SIM cards inside his Bible.

Canada- An obese inmate known as Big Mike has been released early because halfway houses couldn't accommodate him and his lawyer argued his health deteriorated from prison conditions.

CLASS 177 Celebrates 15 YEARS

Some Class 177 members recently celebrated their 15th year anniversary in the CT DOC. Letters of Congratulations from Commissioner Lantz and Deputy Commissioner Murphy, commending Class 177 members for their dedication to public service and the department, were presented to those attending. Committee Chairman, Lt. Dan Leone, stated that the milestone event was so much fun, future reunions are already being discussed for years 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Plumbing Isn't Scary

In 1974 I replaced my first faucet which came with the 1950's era house. The project involved cutting copper pipe and soldering the new faucet into place. The result resembled The Leaky Pipe Game on my first attempt, but I finally arrived at a leak free installation.

Today, it is much easier to replace a faucet. First, close the hot and cold water supply valves under the sink and verify that the water does not flow from the faucet. The old faucet may have 3/8 inch diameter tubing that is attached to the water shut off valves with a threaded compression fitting. Remove the hardware attaching the faucet to the sink then loosen the nuts on the fittings and remove the faucet from the sink. If the faucet supply lines are soldered directly to the shut off valves, cut the lines 1 inch above the valves and use 3/8 inch compression adapters that match your supply pipe size. Compression fittings use a removable nut and compression ring that go over the supply pipe. The nut is tightened and compresses the ring onto the pipe to create a watertight joint. Now the old faucet is gone and you have a 3/8 threaded compression fitting near the shut off valve ready to accept the new faucet supply lines.

Flexible Supply Lines

Your new faucet will have short supply lines with threaded fittings on them, probably 1/2 inch size. Install the new faucet to the sink using the hardware and instruction sheet that came with the faucet. Now you need to connect the faucet to the shut off valves. Measure the distance between the faucet and valve fittings. The hot and cold may be different lengths. Home supply or hardware stores have these great plumbing aids – flexible supply lines. They are flexible hoses with a variety of threaded fittings on each end. They typically come in a variety of lengths, 12, 16, or 24 inches for example. Buy the length you need with the fittings to match your installation. In this example, 3/8 inch on one end and 1/2 inch on the other. Connect the hoses to the hot and cold supply lines and faucet and tighten. Then open the shut off valves and check for leaks. Tighten the supply line nuts slightly until the leak stops.

If you don't have shut off valves under your sink or the valves don't stop the water flow, you can install a new valve easily. There are 1/4 turn ball valves with 3/8 inch compression fittings on one end and 1/2 inch compression or threaded fittings on the other end. Close the main water valve to your house. Remove the defective shut off valves if you have them. The supply pipes will most likely be 1/2 inch copper tubing or 1/2 inch threaded pipe. Install the new valves using compression fittings or threads. If using threaded valves, wrap 2 turns of Teflon tape on the pipe threads to seal the joint. Close the sink shut off valves, open the main house water valve and check for leaks.

Governor Rell Kicks Off Operation E.L.F.

Governor M. Jodi Rell and the Connecticut National Guard recently kicked-off this year's Operation E.L.F. (Embracing Lonely Families) to help Connecticut's military members and the families during the holidays.

The public can support a service member and their families by donating grocery gift cards, department store gift cards, phone cards and new, unwrapped toys. Donations of fuel oil, Christmas trees, snow removal services and financial contributions may also be made to the Connecticut National Guard Foundation, Inc.

Many military families face financial pressures because activated soldiers have seen the elimination or reduction of their civilian job paychecks and Operation E.L.F. offers the "Adopt-a-Family" program for them. Individuals and businesses are encouraged to "adopt" one of these families to help them have wonderful holiday season. The name of the family is never revealed to the adopting person or organization. Rather, a summary of the family's demographics and wish list are provided. Gifts are delivered by that family's case worker.

Hospice Pioneer Passes Away

Florence Wald, "the mother of the American hospice movement," died Nov. 8 at her Branford, Conn., home. She was 91. Her vision of bringing the terminally ill peace of mind and, to whatever extent possible, freedom from pain led to the opening of the first U.S. palliative-care hospice in 1974.

In recent years, Mrs. Wald had concentrated on extending the hospice-care model to dying prison inmates. In 2001, Mrs. Wald assisted with the establishment of the Department's first hospice program at MacDougall-Walker CI. Since that time, more than 150 inmate volunteers in Connecticut prisons have been trained. Besides comforting the terminally ill, Mrs. Wald believed that the program would save taxpayers money and have rehabilitative qualities for the volunteers. The model now is being molded for residents of veterans' homes in the state.
