CT Well-Integrated Screening & Evaluation for WOMen Across the Nation (WISEWOMAN) Program

In addition to receiving a clinical breast exam, Pap test, or mammogram, women ages 35–64 can participate in the WISEWOMAN program and be screened for heart disease.

This program provides women who are found at risk for heart disease a chance to participate in nutrition and physical activity interventions which will help decrease their risk of heart disease.

You are eligible for program services if:

- You are enrolled in the CT Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (CBCCEDP),
- You are 35–64 years of age,
- You have limited income, and
- You have no health insurance, or
- Your insurance does not cover routine blood pressure and cholesterol screenings

CT Colorectal Cancer Control Program

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention has funded the Connecticut Colorectal Cancer Control Program (CCRCCP) to reduce disparities in colorectal cancer burden, screening, and access to care by providing follow-up diagnostic colonoscopies for a limited number of program-eligible people.

You may be eligible to receive a free diagnostic colonoscopy or follow-up colonoscopy to remove polyps. Polyps are growths that can turn into cancer if they are not removed.

You are eligible for program services if:

- You are 45 years of age and over,
- You received a positive test result from another colorectal cancer (CRC) screening option such as fecal immunochemical testing (FIT) and fecal occult blood testing (FOBT) or an initial colonoscopy not paid for by the CCRCCP,
- You have limited income, and you have no health insurance or,
- You have health insurance that excludes a diagnostic exam, or,
- You have insurance with a deductible of $1,000 or more

"I am so grateful for this program and the peace of mind it has given me. The staff is helpful and dedicated to the program and the patients. Thank you from the bottom of my heart." — Program Participant

CT Breast & Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program

The Connecticut Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program (CBCCEDP) is a screening program available throughout Connecticut for medically underserved residents.
