

"The prosecutorial power of the state shall be vested in a chief state's attorney and the state's attorney for each judicial district."

*Article XXIII
Connecticut Constitution
Adopted November 28, 1984*

The Connecticut Division of Criminal Justice

Patrick J. Griffin, Chief State's Attorney

Our Mission

The Division of Criminal Justice and its employees are committed to the fair and equal administration of justice in Connecticut. To this end, the Division of Criminal Justice acknowledges its duty to investigate and prosecute criminal matters within its jurisdiction diligently, ethically and impartially, honoring its constitutional and common law foundations.

Who We Are

Patrick J. Griffin
Connecticut's Chief State's Attorney

The Connecticut Division of Criminal Justice

Robert J. Devlin, Jr.
Deputy Chief State's Attorney
Inspector General

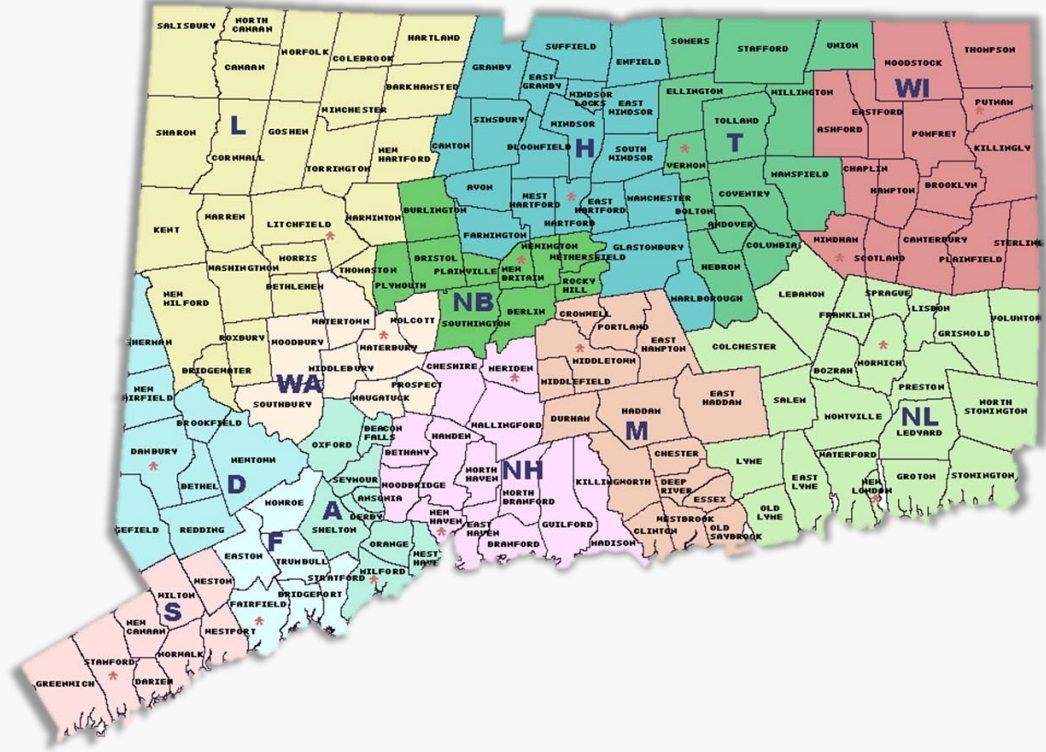

Kevin D. Lawlor
Deputy Chief State's Attorney
Operations

John J. Russotto
Deputy Chief State's Attorney
Administration

State's Attorneys of Connecticut's 13 Judicial Districts

What We Do

We Represent the People of the State of Connecticut

We Train

Following a visit to Connecticut prisons, members of the Hang Time-Real Talk, a group of recently returned community members and founder, Charles Grady, address our newest prosecutors.

We Train

Ansonia-Milford State's Attorney Margaret Kelley (left) and the Honorable Stephanie Damiani, former Bridgeport and New Haven prosecutor, lecture new prosecutors on programs for domestic violence offenders.

We Train

Emily LaGratta formerly of the Center for Court Innovation presenting a session on Restorative Justice at our annual training in June.

We Serve Our Communities

Operation Stand Down 2022, Connecticut Department of Veteran Affairs

Division Prosecutors, including U.S. Marine Corps Veterans Devant Joiner(eighth from left) and Rafael Bustamante(ninth from left), join The Honorable John F. Cronan, Superior Court Judge and former prosecutor, public defenders, and judicial marshals to assist Veterans in resolving low level motor vehicle cases and infractions.

The Tolland State's Attorney's Office teamed up with Craig's Kitchen, a local restaurant providing free Thanksgiving Day meals to those in need.

“Craig Wright, the owner of Craig's Kitchen, started this incredible event, and we are happy to contribute some food so that Craig can use his skills to create a wonderful meal for those in need,” Tolland State's Attorney Matthew C. Gedansky said.

At left:
Members of the Waterbury State's Attorney Office collected laundry detergent, towels, coffee and other items to benefit the Center for Human Development Hospitality Center in Waterbury. The agency provides a space for those in need to shelter, shower and do laundry.

At right:
The Honorable Melanie L. Cradle (second from left), Appellate Court Judge and former prosecutor, and Executive Assistant State's Attorney Gail P. Hardy (third from left), attend the Waterbury State's Attorney's Office Resource Fair with Waterbury State's Attorney Maureen Platt (left) and members of her office

A Bench by the Road is the result of the efforts of Windham County State's Attorney, Anne Mahoney, to have the Toni Morrison Society select the Prudence Crandall Museum as a site of Connecticut's first Bench by the Road. State's Attorney Mahoney is pictured fifth from left.

The Inspector General Robert J. Devlin, Jr., explains to community members the role of the Office of Inspector General.

Sharmese L. Walcott
State's Attorney
Judicial District of Hartford
Sharmese.Walcott@ct.gov

Lisa M. D'Angelo
Executive Assistant State's Attorney
Office of Ethics & Professional Standards
Lisa.Dangelo@ct.gov