	maternal health.
	Susan Millerick asked how the drug discount card would work for insured patients. Josh Wojcik replied that the use cases for the card were for the uninsured, individuals who had not yet hit their deductible (though using the discount card would not count against their deductible), scenarios where the discount card is cheaper than the co-pay for a drug, and when a drug is not covered by one's plan. Susan asked if the card would apply to things like test strips and syringes. Josh replied that it would. Shawn Frick asked if the drug discount card was an opt-in program. Josh replied that getting the word out about the program was going to be very important and the biggest challenge. Josh welcomed anyone to reach out to him with suggestions for how to do so.
	Chris Marsh asked who would perform the PBM study and when. Cindy Dubuque-Gallo replied that she would send Chris the legislation. Deidre Gifford noted that the legislature did not provide a budgetary appropriation for the study so OHS was still working out the best path forward, but she said she believed OHS had to submit its recommendations to the legislature by January 1 st , 2025.
	Susan Millerick asked what the Medicare Advantage study would be assessing. Deidre Gifford replied that the study would look at the operational and financial impact of Medicare Advantage policies and procedures on Connecticut hospitals.

	fall of 2022, which recommended in April that OHS pursue the following four pharmacy-specific cost mitigation strategies: reference-based pricing, PBM strategies, inclusion of pharmacy expense in Total Cost of Care contracts, and state-contracted production of generic drugs. Michael then reminded members that they, after reviewing these recommendations, advised OHS and the Pharmacy Cost Mitigation Strategies Work Group to continue the work necessary to determine how to best implement the strategies in Connecticut. Michael then shared that since the April Steering Committee meeting, the Pharmacy Cost Mitigation Strategies Work Group had met twice, with a third meeting to take place on July 27 th . Following the third meeting, Michael noted that the Work Group should have completed discussions on reference-based pricing as well as state-contracted production of generic drugs. Michael notified the Steering Committee that in parallel with OHS' Pharmacy Work Group, the Peterson-Milbank Program for Sustainable Health Care Costs convened a Cross-State Pharmaceutical Pharmacy Work Group (comprised of representatives of CA, CT, MA, OR, RI and WA) to develop a coordinated strategy on pharmacy price legislation to champion in the 2024 legislative session. Michael noted that the Cross-State Work Group was focused on reference-based pricing and drug price growth caps. Finally, Michael shared that OHS planned to bring the Pharmacy Cost Mitigation Strategies Work Group's recommendations, which would be informed by conversations held by the Cross-State Work Group, to the Steering Committee in the fall.
	Chris Marsh asked if the Pharmacy Cost Mitigation Strategies Work Group was following the Maryland model. Michael Bailit replied that the Work Group was not. Chris asked if the Work Group was only looking at drug costs or all the costs associated with the pharmaceutical system. Michael noted that payment per prescription was the focus since it was driving commercial market spending growth more than utilization. Chris asked if the Work Group was focusing on statewide spending or patient-level spending. Michael replied that at the benchmark level, OHS was looking at "allowed" spending, which was comprised of third-party payer payments as well as out-of-pocket patient spending obligations.
	Angela Harris asked if the drug discount card savings would be factored into this work and if other states were using drug discount cards as well. Michael Bailit replied that he would have to look into Angela's question.

Susan Millerick asked if anyone in the state was working on improving access to primary care. Deidre Gifford noted that part of the benchmark work was to increase primary care spending and added that OHS had some ideas that it planned to bring to the Steering Committee for discussion in the future.
Kristen Whitney Daniels noted that while she thought improving behavioral health systems was necessary, she was worried about potential adverse consequences, e.g., involvement of policing, incarceration, since the policy proposal for behavioral health was focused on crisis and not prevention. Kristen added that she though the most impacted populations should be involved in any discussions on the topic.
