Designed specifically for members of the higher education community, this two-day institute will provide participants with new information about the Connecticut Core Standards (CCS) for ELA/literacy and mathematics, and its connection to teacher preparation programs. The institute will include topics that aspirant teachers will experience in Connecticut public schools.

Day 1:

- Orientation presentation (setting the context; review of CCS shifts)
- Lesson design for higher education (Universal Design for Learning, Gradual Release, and EQuIP rubric)
- Rigor for higher education (cognitive rigor and Hess)

Day 2:

- Understanding reflection for CCS
- Understanding and using tools for coaching for CCS

Continental breakfast and lunch are included on both days.
