

Cultivating a Meaningful Partnership: Equity at the Center

A PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SYMPOSIUM

This equity symposium aims to explore the relationship between superintendents and their diversity, equity, and inclusion leaders as they work collaboratively to create an equitable educational environment.

George Coleman, educator and former CSDE acting commissioner, will present the keynote address and lead us into an engaging panel discussion with superintendents and their diversity, equity, and inclusion leaders. Panelists will share their experiences and successes as they help us explore the infinite possibilities that our districts have when they place equity at the center of their work.
