Revised USDA Resource: Crediting Handbook for the Child and Adult Care Food Program

The USDA's revised Crediting Handbook for the Child and Adult Care Food Program (Crediting Handbook) is now available online. This updated resource helps CACFP operators serve meals and snacks that encourage healthy choices, healthy families, and healthy outcomes.

The Crediting Handbook is a technical assistance resource designed to assist CACFP operators in planning menus that meet the current USDA meal pattern requirements. The handbook is also an important supplemental companion to the Food Buying Guide for Child Nutrition Programs for crediting foods and meal planning.

This resource provides information on the current CACFP meal patterns, crediting guidance for each meal component, a "Crediting in Action" section to practice crediting skills, and a list of helpful resources. The recent revision makes the guidance clear and consistent, adds new examples to assist with crediting, and uses wording that matches current policy. Some of the new additions are indicated below.

- "Crediting Tips" in each meal component section for easy-to-reference crediting highlights.
- The "Flowchart for Determining Creditable Grains" to help program operators quickly determine if a grain product is made of creditable grains.
- A quick reference crediting chart for meats/meat alternates provides crediting info for common food items.
