

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)
Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

For each situation below, indicate if the Connecticut Nutrition Standards (CNS) applies and why or why not.

Source	Does CNS apply?	Why or why not?
1. Reimbursable meals sold to students in the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) and School Breakfast Program (SBP)	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS applies only to foods sold to students separately from reimbursable meals such as a la carte sales of snack foods in the cafeteria.
2. A la carte foods sold to student in the cafeteria	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS applies to all a la carte foods sold to students in the cafeteria. A la carte foods are foods sold separately from reimbursable meals. Foods sold a la carte in the cafeteria are not eligible for exemptions and must always comply with the CNS.
3. Foods sold to students from vending machines	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Foods sold to students from vending machines must always comply with the CNS. The state HFC statute specifically prohibits food exemptions for vending machines.
4. Foods sold to students from school stores	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Foods sold to students from school stores must always comply with the CNS. The state HFC statute specifically prohibits food exemptions for school stores.

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)

Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

Source	Does CNS apply?	Why or why not?
5. Foods sold to students from fundraisers on school premises sponsored by school groups, e.g., school organizations, clubs, and other activities	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Foods sold to students from fundraisers on school premises must always comply with the CNS unless the district's annual HFC Statement allows exemptions, and the food sales meet the three exemption criteria.
6. Foods sold to students from fundraisers on school premises sponsored by groups outside the school district	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	It does not matter who does the selling. Foods sold to students from fundraisers on school premises must always comply with the CNS unless the district's annual HFC Statement allows exemptions, and the food sales meet the three exemption criteria.
7. Foods sold to students from fundraisers held at locations off school premises, e.g., town hall, community center, or supermarket	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS applies only to foods sold to students on school premises. Fundraisers are not required to meet the CNS if they occur at a location that is not under the school district's jurisdiction. An example is selling candy or cookies at a supermarket or store, or a town sports field, recreational facility, or community center.
8. Family and consumer sciences classes that sell foods to students	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS applies to all foods sold to students separately from reimbursable meals. Foods sold from classes and instructional programs must always comply with the CNS because classes are not events and are not eligible for food exemptions.

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)

Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

Source	Does CNS apply?	Why or why not?
9. Family and consumer sciences classes that give foods to students	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS does not apply to foods that are given to students. “Giving” means that the foods are provided free of any charge, contribution, or suggested donations; and without the exchange of tickets and similar items to obtain foods. Note: While the CNS does not apply, if any Child Nutrition Programs are operating, the state competitive foods regulations require restrictions for selling and giving certain foods and beverages to students. These requirements are reviewed in Module 5: Laws for Foods and Beverages in HFC Schools.
10. Culinary arts programs that sell foods to students	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Yes. The CNS applies to all foods sold to students separately from reimbursable meals. Foods sold from culinary programs must always comply with the CNS because culinary programs are not events and are not eligible for food exemptions.
11. Culinary arts programs that give foods to students	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS does not apply to foods that are given to students. “Giving” means that the foods are provided free of any charge, contribution, or suggested donations; and without the exchange of tickets and similar items to obtain foods. Note: While the CNS does not apply, if any Child Nutrition Programs are operating, the state competitive foods regulations require restrictions for selling and giving certain foods and beverages to students. These requirements are reviewed in Module 5: Laws for Foods and Beverages in HFC Schools.

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)

Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

Source	Does CNS apply?	Why or why not?
12. Foods sold to students from summer school programs operated by the school district	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Summer school programs operated on school premises by the board of education are part of the regular school day. Foods available for sale to students from summer school programs must always comply with the CNS. Summer school programs are not eligible for food exemptions under the state HFC statute because they do not meet the definition of an event.
13. Foods sold to students in schools that chose to implement HFC under an interschool agreement	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	A school that receives meals through an interschool agreement and opts to implement HFC must follow the CNS. Foods sold to students must always comply with the CNS unless the interschool agreement allows food exemptions, and the food sales meet the three exemption criteria.
14. Fee-based programs and activities on school premises that include the cost of foods provided to students	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Foods provided to students as part of fee-based based programs and activities on school premises must always comply with the CNS. Fee-based based programs and activities are not eligible for food exemptions under the state HFC statute because they do not meet the definition of an event.
15. Foods served in the USDA's Afterschool Snack Program (ASP)	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS applies to all foods that are part of reimbursable ASP snacks. In addition to meeting the USDA meal pattern, foods served in ASP snacks must meet the CNS.
16. Adult education programs operated by the board of education on school premises	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS applies to all food sales under the control of the adult education program. The state HFC statute does not address an age limit for students, nor does it distinguish between regular and adult education programs.

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)

Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

Source	Does CNS apply?	Why or why not?
17. Food sales to adults, e.g., snack vending machine in teachers' lounge	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No	The CNS does not apply to foods sold to adults such as teachers, school staff, and parents. Schools may sell any foods and beverages to adults at any time, either on or off school premises.
18. Classroom parties that collect a fee to cover cost of foods provided to students during the school day	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Classroom parties that occur during the school day must always comply with the CNS because food sales during the school day are not eligible for food exemptions.
19. Classroom parties where parents donate foods provided to students	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> No	If parents donate the foods, the foods are being given to students. The CNS does not apply to foods that are given to students. Remember that giving means that the foods are provided free of any charge, contribution, or suggested donations; and without the exchange of tickets and similar items to obtain foods. Note: While the CNS does not apply, if any Child Nutrition Programs are operating, the state competitive foods regulations require restrictions for selling and giving certain foods and beverages to students. These requirements are reviewed in Module 5: Laws for Foods and Beverages in HFC Schools.
20. Giving students coupons or similar items that are redeemable for foods	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Giving students coupons or similar items that can be exchanged for foods is the same as selling foods to students. An example is a teacher who rewards students' good behavior by giving them a coupon that can be exchanged for ice cream. This practice is not allowed unless the foods that students can obtain with the coupons meet the CNS.

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)

Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

Source	Does CNS apply?	Why or why not?
21. Meetings on school premises that sell foods to students	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No	Foods sold to students at meetings on school premises must always comply with the CNS. Meetings are not eligible for food exemptions under the state HFC statute because they do not meet the definition of an event.

Complying with Healthy Food Certification (HFC)

Answer Key for Module 2 Worksheet: Test Your HFC IQ

The Connecticut State Department of Education's (CSDE) Complying with Healthy Food Certification training program consists of six recorded modules that provide guidance on how to meet the HFC requirements under Section 10-215f of the Connecticut General Statutes and the related state laws for competitive foods in schools. This training program is intended for the district's HFC contact person and individuals who coordinate sales of competitive foods to students on school premises. To access the training modules, visit the "Related Resources" section of the CSDE's HFC webpage.

In accordance with federal civil rights law and U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) civil rights regulations and policies, this institution is prohibited from discriminating on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex (including gender identity and sexual orientation), disability, age, or reprisal or retaliation for prior civil rights activity.

Program information may be made available in languages other than English. Persons with disabilities who require alternative means of communication to obtain program information (e.g., Braille, large print, audiotape, American Sign Language), should contact the responsible state or local agency that administers the program or USDA's TARGET Center at (202) 720-2600 (voice and TTY) or contact USDA through the Federal Relay Service at (800) 877-8339.

To file a program discrimination complaint, a Complainant should complete a Form AD-3027, USDA Program Discrimination Complaint Form which can be obtained online at: <https://www.usda.gov/sites/default/files/documents/ad-3027.pdf>, from any USDA office, by calling (866) 632-9992, or by writing a letter addressed to USDA. The letter must contain the complainant's name, address, telephone number, and a written description of the alleged discriminatory action in sufficient detail to inform the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights (ASCR) about the nature and date of an alleged civil rights violation. The completed AD-3027 form or letter must be submitted to USDA by:

1. mail: U.S. Department of Agriculture
Office of the Assistant Secretary for Civil Rights
1400 Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20250-9410; or
2. fax: (833) 256-1665 or (202) 690-7442; or
3. email: program.intake@usda.gov

This institution is an equal opportunity provider.

The Connecticut State Department of Education is committed to a policy of equal opportunity/affirmative action for all qualified persons. The Connecticut Department of Education does not discriminate in any employment practice, education program, or educational activity on the basis of race; color; religious creed; age; sex; pregnancy; sexual orientation; workplace hazards to reproductive systems, gender identity or expression; marital status; national origin; ancestry; retaliation for previously opposed discrimination or coercion, intellectual disability; genetic information; learning disability; physical disability (including, but not limited to, blindness); mental disability (past/present history thereof); military or veteran status; status as a victim of domestic violence; or criminal record in state employment, unless there is a bona fide occupational qualification excluding persons in any of the aforementioned protected classes. Inquiries regarding the Connecticut State Department of Education's nondiscrimination policies should be directed to: Attorney Louis Todisco, Connecticut State Department of Education, by mail 450 Columbus Boulevard, Hartford, CT 06103-1841; or by telephone 860-713-6594; or by email louis.todisco@ct.gov.