

School Courses for the Exchange of Data (SCED) New Courses for 12.0 & CT Specific - updated December 2024

Course Title	SCED Code	Course Description	Change Status
African American, Black, Latino, and Puerto Rican Course of Studies	04901	The course is an opportunity for students to explore accomplishments, struggles, intersections, perspectives, and collaborations of African American, Black, Latino, and Puerto Rican people in the U.S. Students will examine how historical movements, legislation, and wars affected the citizenship rights of these groups and how they, both separately and together, worked to build U.S. cultural and economic wealth and create more just societies in local, national, and international contexts. Coursework will provide students with tools to identify historic and contemporary tensions around race and difference; map economic and racial disparities over time; strengthen their own identity development; and address bias in their communities.	Introduced in the 2021-22 school year
AP African American Studies	04112	Following the College Board's suggested curriculum designed to parallel college-level African American Studies courses, students in AP African American Studies courses use authentic and varied sources to explore diverse African American experiences. Students study topics that span early African kingdoms to the contemporary challenges and achievements of the African American communities in the U.S.	New Course
Integrative Learning—School-based Enterprise	25993	Integrative Learning—School-based Enterprise courses provide students the opportunity to learn about and manage an entrepreneurial operation related to integrative learning within a school setting. Students will develop interpersonal and professional skills. Topics may include operations, product services management, pricing, distribution, and marketing.	New Course
Integrative Learning—Career Project-based Learning	25994	Integrative Learning—Career Project-based Learning courses provide students with an introduction to careers related to integrative learning. Students will work in cooperation with local businesses, community organizations, or non-profit agencies to explore and solve real-world problems that could arise in the workplace. These courses occur in a classroom setting and typically do not include work in the field.	New Course
Integrative Learning—Aide	25995	Integrative Learning—Aide courses offer students the opportunity to assist instructors in preparing, organizing, or delivering course curricula. Students may provide tutorial or instructional assistance to other students.	New Course
Integrative Learning—Independent Study	25997	Integrative Learning—Independent Study courses, often conducted with instructors as mentors, enable students to explore topics of interest within integrative learning. Independent Study courses may provide students with an opportunity to expand their expertise in a particular specialization, to explore a topic in greater detail, or to develop more advanced skills.	New Course
Integrative Learning—Workplace Experience	25998	Integrative Learning—Workplace Experience courses provide students with work experience in a field related to integrative learning. Goals are typically set cooperatively by the student, teacher, and employer (although students are not necessarily paid). These courses may include classroom activities as well, involving further study of the field or discussion regarding experiences that students encounter in the workplace.	New Course
Integrative Learning—Other	25999	Other Integrative Learning courses.	New Course