Bulletin PC-38 describes previously issued bulletins that are being reissued as a PC bulletin with no change, reissued as a PC bulletin with changes, or superseded by this bulletin. Bulletin PC-38 also describes new bulletins that consolidate and update information previously contained in superseded bulletins. The bulletins cover a range of property and casualty insurance issues including: filing procedures, ratemaking, underwriting and market practices. The bulletins impact virtually all commercial and personal property and casualty lines of insurance.

This is Connecticut's first overall review of Property and Casualty bulletins in 30 years. Many of the bulletins impact how companies prepare and make rate, rule and form filings. During 2001, additional bulletins will be issued to improve the rate filing process, in keeping with speed-to-market initiatives of the NAIC. Our goal is to improve efficiency and effectiveness to enable companies to get products into the marketplace, while at the same time maintaining and improving consumer protections for policyholders.

1. WEB SITE POSTING OF BULLETINS

In the interest of economy and efficiency, the bulletins described in this bulletin are posted on the department's web site located at <http://www.state.ct.us/cid>. Property and casualty insurance bulletin information may be found in the Property and Casualty Division's information section. New bulletin information is also located under WHAT'S HOT & WHAT'S NEW!!!! -- (News Releases, Bulletins, Notices, etc...). Insurance companies may download the bulletin files directly from our web site.
