Mission

The Judicial Selection Commission’s mission is to evaluate, investigate and recommend qualified candidates for consideration by the Governor for nomination as judges of the Superior Court, the Appellate Court, and the Supreme Court.

Statutory Responsibility

The Commission’s statutory responsibility is to administer and enforce the provisions of Connecticut General Statute Section 51-44(a). Under that section, the Commission has the responsibility of seeking qualified candidates for consideration by the Governor for nomination as judges for the Superior Court, Appellate Court, and Supreme Court. All candidates seeking consideration for appointment to judicial office, including incumbent judges seeking reappointment, or appointment to a different court, are required to complete the appropriate application forms which are promulgated by the Commission. The Commission conducts an investigation and evaluation of each candidate for judicial office, including judges seeking reappointment, or appointment to a different court. The Commission contacts the Statewide Grievance Panel, judges, and attorneys concerning candidates for judicial appointment in order to conduct its investigation and evaluation. For judges, the Commission contacts The Judicial Review Council, the Governor's Office, the Office of Chief Court Administrator, the Judiciary Committee of the Connecticut General Assembly, and the Connecticut Criminal Defense Lawyer's Association. In addition, the Commission posts notices in the courts of Connecticut to encourage public comment before conducting its interviews of judges seeking reappointment.

Public Service

The Commission to date for 2022 has received 28 applications from candidates for judicial office; 8 applications from judges seeking reappointment to the same court; and 8 applications from judges seeking appointment to a different court. The Commission held 8 meetings. Of the 28 candidates who applied to the Commission for judicial office, 18 candidates were recommended by the Commission to the Governor. Of the 8 judges who applied to the Commission for reappointment to the same court, 8 judges were recommended by the Commission to the Governor. Of the 8 judges who applied to the Commission for reappointment to a different court, 5 judges were recommended by the Commission to the Governor.
