This bicycle rider was using a headlight when they hit the removed bollard attachment stub.

When CT DOT presented on trail design, for Charter Oak Greenway projects, at a symposium, I specifically mentioned that bollards desperately need reflective material.

Gates and bollards without reflectors are a huge liability risk. Known issue. Recent motorcycle fatality in Hartford at the Goodwin Park gate. MDC gate lawsuit several years ago.

Relative to risk reduction. When bollards are important for keeping motor vehicles off the trail, there are "flush mount" versions that don't leave a dangerous stub exposed when moved out of place. <https://www.creativesafetysupply.com/removable-bollards/>

Removable Bollards

Removable bollard posts are an easy way to temporarily remove or block access. Shop today for expert advice.

Can the existing bollards be wrapped, immediately, with several stripes of reflective long-life tape? Up high, middle, and down low. Bicycle lights hit the low first.
